"Progress is the activity of today and the assurance of tomorrow," Ralph Waldo Emerson said. Progress and growth in every area of Okemos High characterized the 1963-64 school year. Every facet of school life was enlarged and improved to assure individuals and our country that "tomorrow" would be better than today because of increased knowledge and opportunities of its high school students.

The curriculum at Okemos has long been considered more than adequate to prepare each student for his future. But new courses continued to be added. Courses in the fields of business, fine arts, science and history were added to give opportunity for a more complete education to everyone. Retailing and business law gave new opportunities to prepare for careers in the business world. Drama, debate, and creative writing developed inquiring minds and vivid imaginations. Physical and world geography gave students a new taste of science and history. A new plan of cooperative training provided a number of students with the opportunity to combine school activities with on-the-job training. Plans were made for a new ungraded program in English to promote progress in the English department at Okemos High. A study was also made to find more effective marking period to replace the six-week plan that has been the procedure for many years. New lockers were installed to help students do a better job of their work.

The character of Okemos students changed and developed as it was brought into the molding influences of such things as President John F. Kennedy's death. Students realized the importance of an effective government and the necessary essentials for being a good citizen. Students sought to improve their own school government and to make themselves more responsible citizens.

The year's fads and fancies also characterized the students of OHS. Skirts were lengthened, the over-rattled hairdo became obsolete and white levis were popular with the boys. New dances were executed by many students. The transistor radio was still an important device to people who listened to top tunes. A fan club for an English singing group, the Beatles, was formed. Inter-school sports, movies, and dances ranked as the most popular entertainment.

The football team was supported by many avid fans who enjoyed the games from the new bleachers installed at the football field. The basketball team also had a large following, while interest grew in sports such as wrestling, cross country, track, tennis, baseball and golf. A plan to provide intramural sports for other students was reviewed. The physical education department enjoyed a year of new games and equipment. The growing spirit and interest in sports typified the progress in all areas at Okemos High School during the year.

Progress in Curriculum

Progress takes cooperation and students and teachers gladly worked together to see their school take steps which would make them proud.

Students flocked to new courses and clubs provided for them, and they worked together to make these successful, besides seeking to improve the regular ones.

Joint programs, such as the all-school play "Bye Bye Birdie" and the English classes' magazine "Reflections," fostered cooperation among all grades.

Teachers and students worked together to solve problems in the student-initiated student forum.

Students cooperated to make Silver Bells, junior-senior prom and banquet, and Homecoming the best they had even seen.

Students began to see that "progress is the activity of today and assurance of tomorrow" and were more willing to become cooperative citizens in our democratic society.

Important to the life of Okemos High was the work of four administrators. Our own administrator, Mr. Dale Shearer, worked the closest with us. He talked with us revising Student Parliament and the lunch program.

Superintendent Richards gave school-wide leadership from his office on campus. Often he greeted students as he met them on campus.

Administrative Assistant Mills was also a familiar figure. Working with Mr. Richards and Mr. Shearer, he helped with the financial end of running the high school.

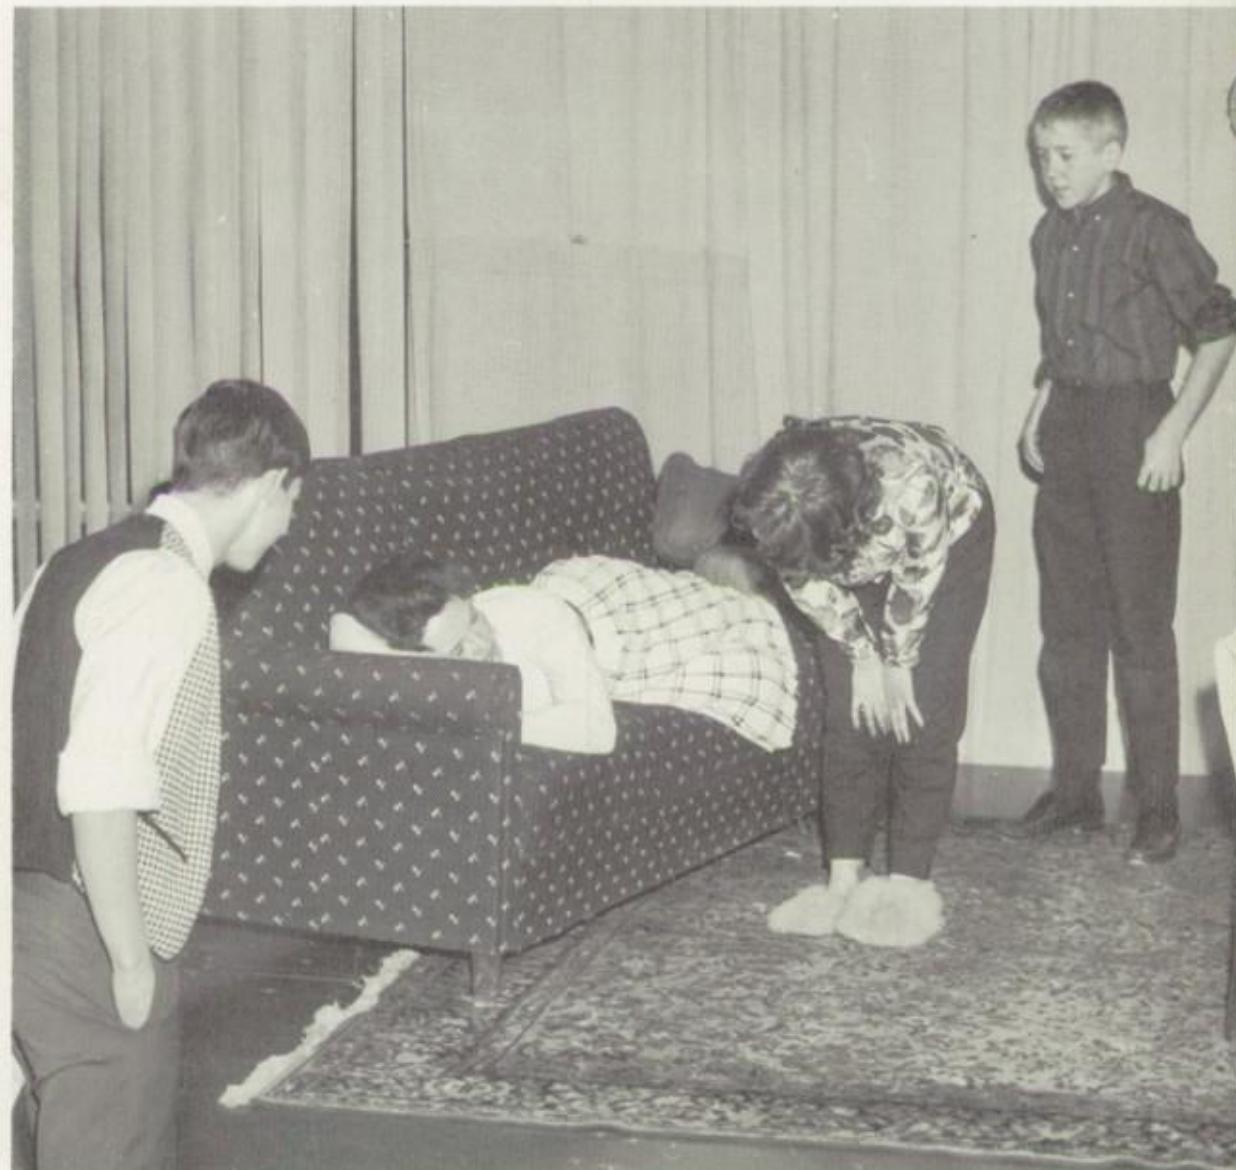

Assistant Superintendent Slocum helped our principals and teachers with the curriculum. He furnished materials and ideas for a better program.

PROGRESS IN COOPERATION

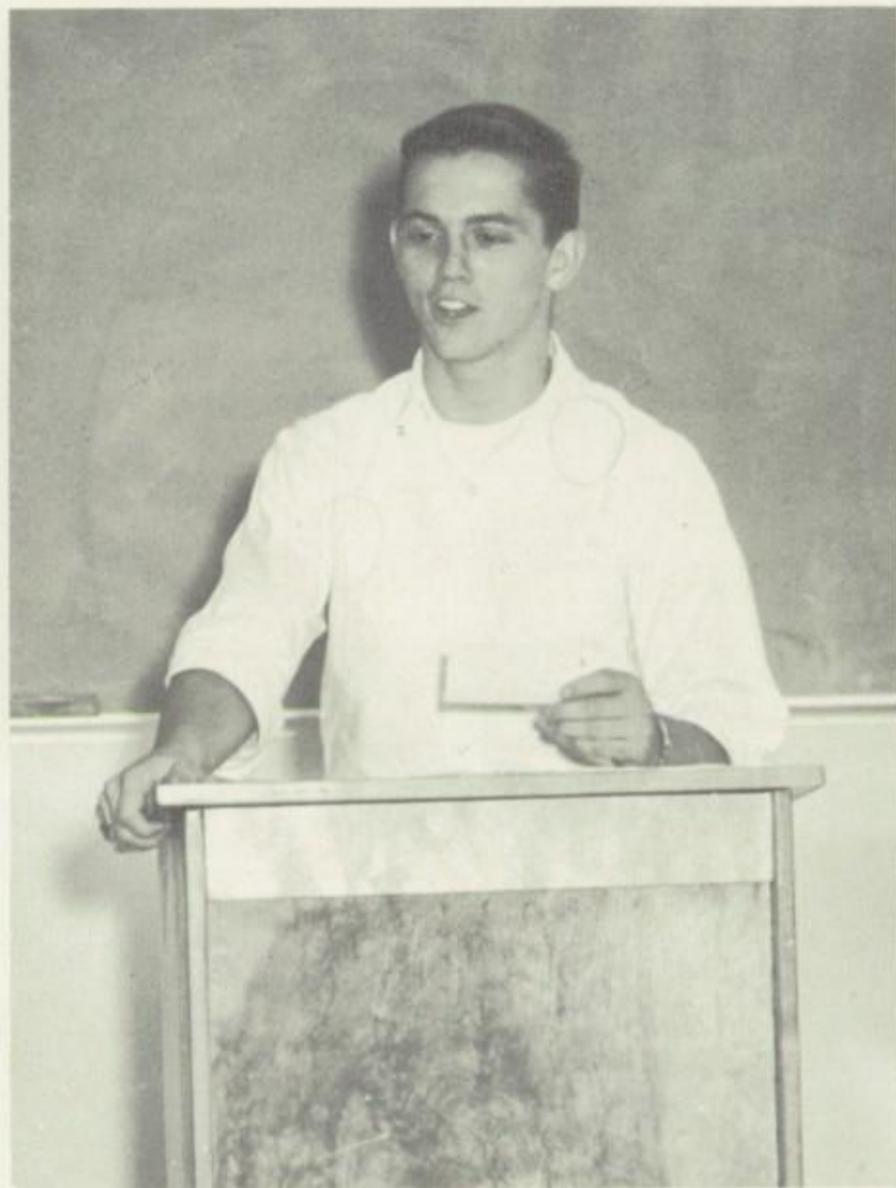

Activities at Okemos High School have provided opportunities for students to share their interests with others. With an emphasis on developing individual talents, the students also participated in an atmosphere of group cooperation.

These activities provided the proper balance, giving the students a chance to cultivate their thoughts by allowing them to express them and at the same time acquire new outlooks from others. Clubs, seminars, and dances gave students a field in which to learn and enjoy themselves while participating.

1. Each person contributed his own spirit to help our teams. 2. Students interested in dramatics presented two plays. 3. Members of the debate team shared information with their partners. 4. Committees worked together in Homecoming activities.

Royal Couple Carol Wagenvoord, Gary Sturk

Juniors elected to represent their class during homecoming weekend are Bill Burrows and Bonnie Lantz.

I will always remember your sweet voice singing though my ears in world history. It was rough, but it was fun.
Hers hoping will be close next year too.
When I see you again I will recall the same beauty figure, all black & black, and soft "Oh you're like O." I remember you. King of course well good luck all your life.

Peggie Stevens and Bill McGlone were chosen to represent the Freshman Class during homecoming weekend.

Homecoming weekend took place October 11 and 12. During the preceding week, elections for the king, queen and court were held in all classes at the high school. Chosen to reign over homecoming ceremonies were Queen Carol Wagenvoord and King Gary Sturk. Other class representatives were Bonnie Lantz and Bill Burrows, juniors; Kathy Soltow and Jim Westwood, sophomores; Peggie Stevens and Bill McGlone, freshmen.

For the second year in a row Spanish Club won first place in float competition. Its caption was "Gone with the Wind." Second place was awarded to the Senior Class which depicted Aunt Jemima beating a batter of Holt Rams. The Sophomore Class was given third place for its "Recipe for Victory." Juniors received an honorable mention.

Queen Carol and King Gary and their court were introduced to the crowd during half-time. Mr. Joseph Walbridge, high school science teacher, sang the Oke-mos version of "Here She Comes, Miss America," while the marching band accompanied him.

"Dixie" was the theme of this year's homecoming dance Saturday, October 12. The cafeteria was transformed into a southern mansion complete with white pillars and trailing roses. Decorations were planned by Kuni Nuechterlein and her committee.

Carol was crowned by last year's queen Betty Schultz, and former king Roger Pavlik presented Gary with the scepter. Couples danced to the music of Bob Sargeant's Band.

Discussing plans for the decoration of the cafeteria for homecoming are Debbie Taylor, sophomore; Kuni Nuechterlein, senior; Dick Hill, junior; and Anne Dahnke, senior. Kuni shows some of her ideas to the rest of the committee.

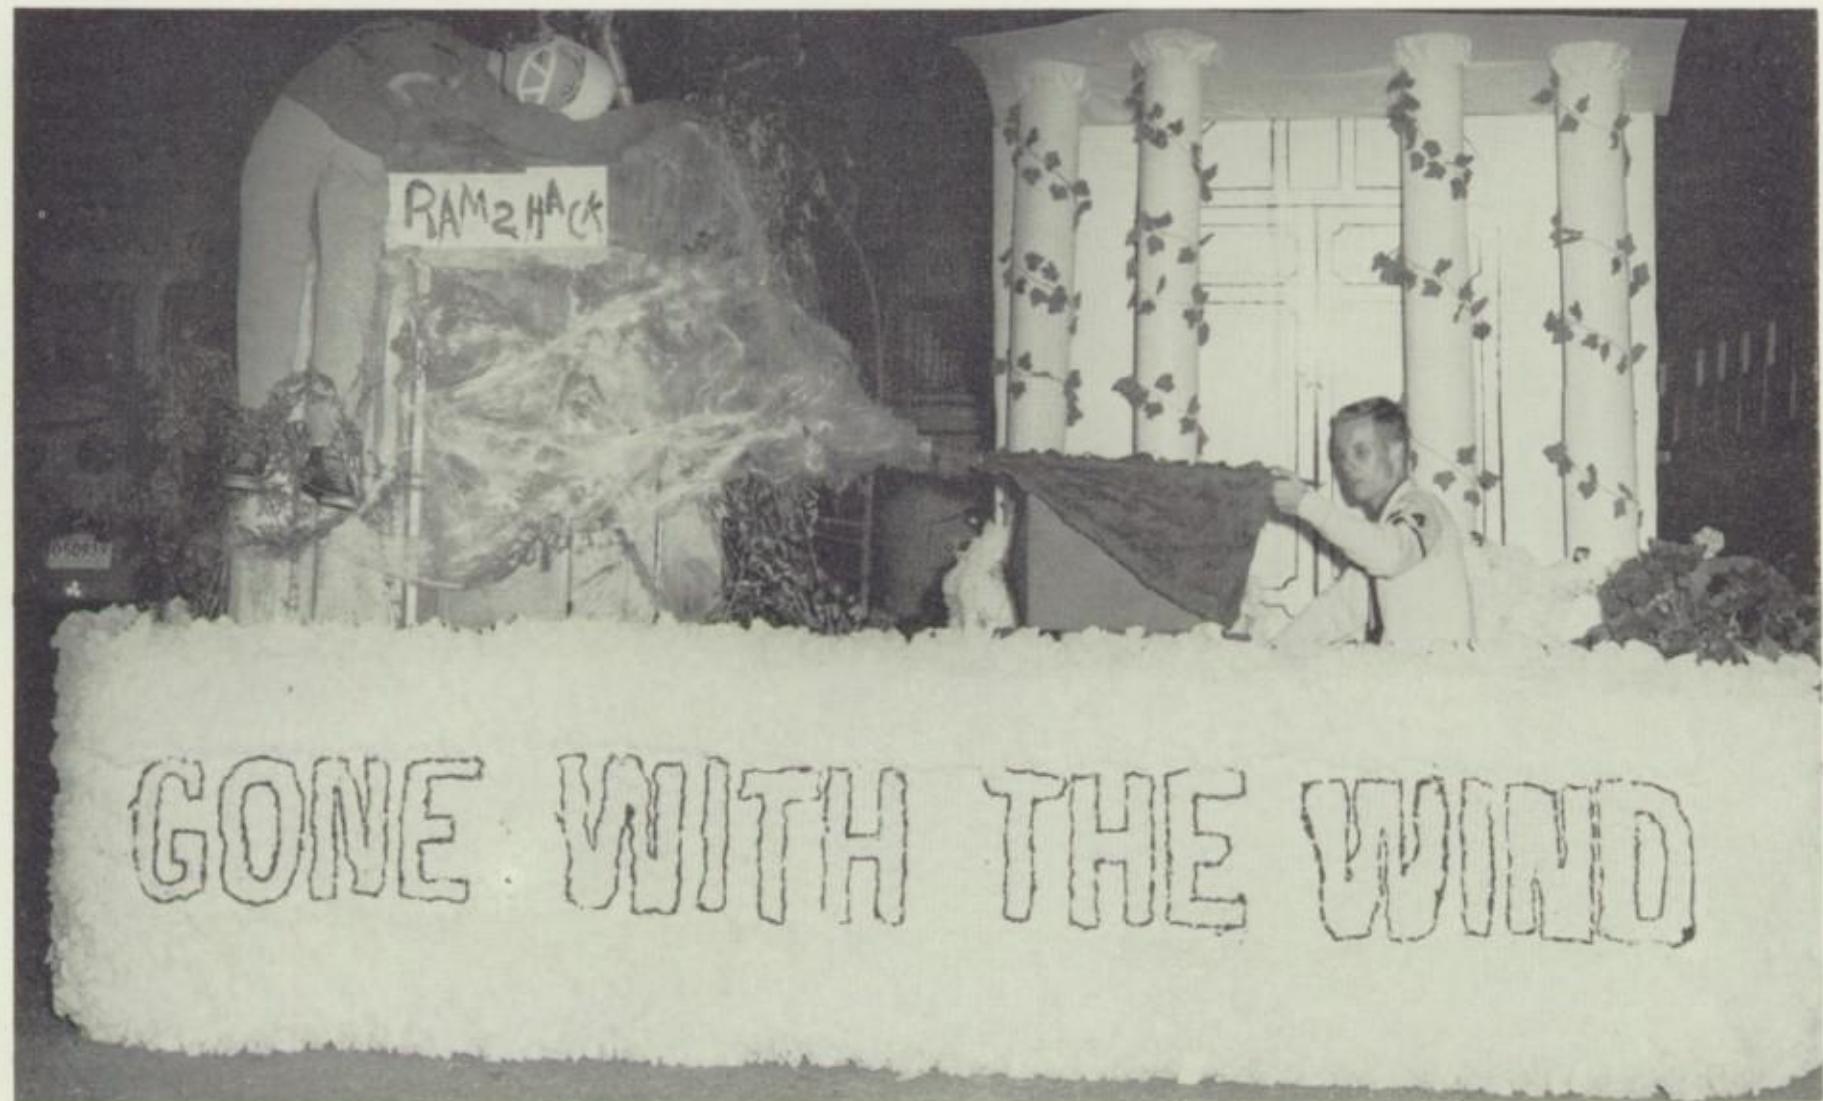

Bob Sargeant and his band play request tunes for the annual homecoming dance.

Couples watch as the homecoming court dances to the music of Bob Sargeant's Band.

Spanish Club Float Awarded First Place

Spanish Club was awarded first place for the second consecutive year for its float which features a Chieftain blowing away a shack which is full of Rams. The float was constructed under the direction of Janne Rutherford.

Second place was given to seniors for their interpretation of Aunt Jemima mixing a batter of Holt Rams. It was sponsored by Peasant Crafters.

The third place float of the Sophomore Class gave its interpretation of how to barbecue a ram Southern style. Har- graves Hardware was the sponsor.

Couples Enjoy 'Babes In Toyland'

Jan Mensendick, Eric Curtis, Kathy Soltow, Pete Georgiady, Bobbie Firnhaber and Jim Somers dance at the annual Christmas dance, "Babes In Toyland."

Jon Overholt, Pam Diehl and Donna McDonald, committee chairman for Silver Bells, hang a poster in the Little School publicizing "Babes in Toyland."

"Babes In Toyland", the annual winter semi-formal dance, sponsored by the Senior Class under the direction of Dave Overhouse, was held December 14. Colorful paper toys covered the walls of the high school cafeteria, and each table had as a centerpiece a snow-laden branch decorated with ornaments. Music was provided by Buddy Spangler's Band.

Class of '64 Plans Social Events

"A Touch of Crystal," the 1962-63 Junior-Senior Prom, was held May 18 in Kellogg Center ballroom. Music for dancing was provided by The Gentlemen of Note, managed by Keith Amstutz.

Mrs. Dorothy Peterson and Mrs. Betty Anderson, class sponsors, aided Gary Sturk and Bob Bratzler, co-chairmen, in the organization of the prom. Other committee chairmen were Pam Nagle, decorations; Pam Diehl, favors; Jan Heiser, invitations; Carol Wagenvoord, publicity.

As seniors the class made plans for the annual Senior Banquet, which was held May 27. John Ruswinckel headed the banquet committee which met in early March to begin planning of the dinner.

Couples enjoy dancing at the 1962-63 Junior-Senior Prom "A Touch of Crystal." Flowers decorated the tables surrounding the dance floor.

Members of the banquet committee met in early spring to discuss plans for the banquet. Members of the committee are: seated: John Ruswinckel and Pam Nagle standing: Jon Overholt and Lancea McCloud.

Drama Club Presents Two Plays

Bobbie Firnhaber applies the finishing touches to Gary Weeber's make-up for the Drama Club production "You Can't Take It With You."

The Sycamore household is enveloped in confusion as Mr. Kolenkof shows Mr. Kirby that wrestling is an ideal hobby in the play "You Can't Take It With You."

Okemos High School Drama Club, now in its second year, presented two plays under the direction of Mrs. Carol Ford. "You Can't Take It With You," the well-known play by Moss Hart and George Kaufman, was the first production of the year. It was presented December 2 and 3 in the high school cafeteria.

With the proceeds of its previous plays, the club purchased lighting equipment. Although most of the props were borrowed, Drama Club obtained a few standard props. Play books were also purchased.

The production staff played a big part in presenting the plays. Publicity, house, stage, property, costume, and make-up staffs were used. Drama Club presented its second play later in the year.

Professions Chosen by Students at Career Day

Lyle Mund and Janne Rutherford consult some pamphlets obtained from MSU Career Carnival concerning their future professions.

MSU held The Career Carnival October 8 for all high school seniors in the Lansing area. Students who attended obtained information and motivation for appropriate career choices.

An all-school career day was held March 12 at OHS. Career Day allowed students to inquire about forty-eight different professional areas. It was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Okemos, under the direction of Mr. John McKinley. The kick-off speech was delivered by Dr. Daniel Kruger of the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations at MSU.

Planning the OHS Career Day are Mr. Gary Raymond, Mrs. Thelma Lamb, Mr. John McKinley of the Kiwanis Club, Mrs. Dorothy Peterson and Bob Bratzler.

Assemblies Broaden Students' Curriculum

Gary Sturk and John Ruswinckel transport Dave Shadduck and Sam Hughes around the OHS campus during Slave Day.

Slave Doug DeLind is auctioned off to the highest bidder, while Gail Turner and Geri Kalush await their turn.

Dr. Maynard Miller from the MSU Geology Department relates experiences of his recent trip to Mt. Everest at the fall Honor Society Initiation.

As OHS's money-raising project for Community Services Day October 26, students organized Slave Day. Students who volunteered to be slaves for the day were auctioned to the highest bidder. Slaves were ordered to carry books, open doors or complete homework assignments for their masters.

Honor Society held its annual fall initiation in the gym, December 9. Dr. Maynard Miller spoke on the importance of continuing what is begun and reaching the highest goals one can possibly attain.

Pep assemblies were held before every football and basketball game to help boost school spirit. Bill Berry, MSU basketball starter, attended a pep rally and spoke on the need of school spirit.

French Club Plans Various Activities

Students taking French and those interested in the language again organized a club. Mrs. Betty Goldstein, French teacher, was the sponsor. Mrs. Pauline Haynes lectured in French and demonstrated the technique of making French pastries. Club members were able to sample all of the pastries.

A girl from Belgium spoke of the customs of Belgians during Christmas holidays. Pete Georgiady showed slides and related his experiences of his recent European trip.

Bill Burrows and Will Schultz sang Dominique and other native French songs at a meeting. French Club's annual banquet was held in the spring.

Mrs. Betty Goldstein
Foreign Language Department

Carolyn Fishel looks on as Mrs. Pauline Haynes prepares eclairs for French Club.

Pete Georgiady tells interested students Doug DeLind and Arlo Peterson about his trip to France. Pete is holding a gargouille, which is a medieval waterspout.

French Club officers are seated: Barb Bartlett and Marilou Peterson; standing: Don Black, Gary Sturk and Fred Stehman.

Interest in Skiing Develops New Club

Sitzmark Club functioned as the newest and largest club this year at OHS. Senior Roger Link and junior Rick Neumann's interest in skiing motivated them to organize the club. Miss Berry, business teacher, sponsored the club. There were 100 members on the club roster. Ski club was open to all students, regardless of their skiing ability.

The club viewed a movie, "High Powder," illustrating skiing techniques. Several club members went to the Lansing Civic Center and saw a ski style show sponsored by the Jug and Mug Ski Club of Lansing. Latest ski fashions for '64 were seen.

Ski trips to Mt. Brighton were planned for every Sunday. Lack of snow proved to be a problem for several weeks.

Non-skiing members learned the basic skills through expert instructions given by Mt. Brighton officials. Skiers in the group were able to polish their skills and learn new ones. A weekend trip to a ski lodge was also planned.

Donna McDonald, Gary Sturk, Roger Link, Rick Neumann and Vicki McGowan, ski club officers, plan a weekend ski trip.

Dick Hill and Sharon Anderson look at some ski folders from various slopes.

Sam Hughes and Greg Young wax their skis to prepare them for an upcoming day of skiing.

Club Appreciates International Art

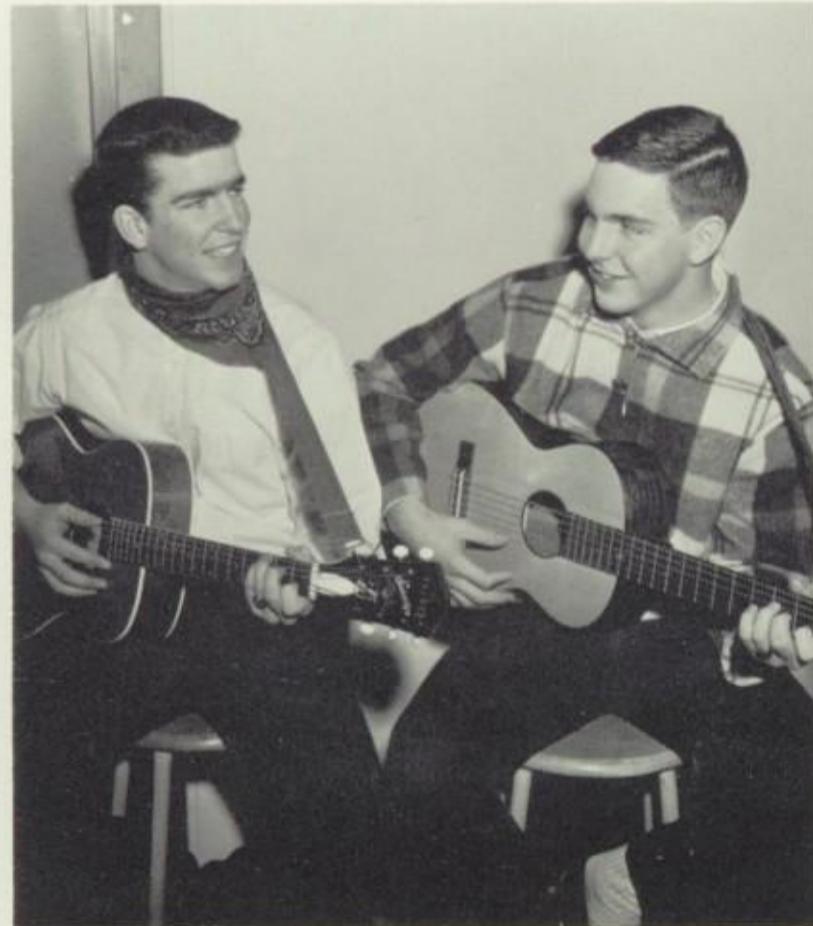

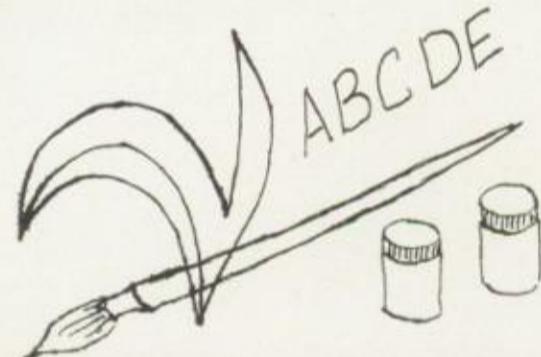

Members of Art Club enjoyed an active year. Listening to OHS foreign exchange students broadened the club's interest in international art.

Art Club members viewed a movie explaining Japanese art. Mr. Bruce Davis spoke about his trip to Europe and explained the glass coloring procedure. Art Club's Christmas party was held at Carol Hickling's home in December.

For the ninth consecutive year a talent show was presented. "Dudes for Dollies" was the theme for the show presented April 10 in the gym. Trips to the Toledo Art Museum and Michigan State University art show were planned.

Art Club officers planning a trip to an art museum are John Ruswinckel, Donna McDonald, Carol Hickling, Roger Link and Lancea McCloud.

Greg Johnson and Fred McGlone, seniors, play their guitars and sing at the 1964 Talent Show.

Looking at some Art for World Friendship pictures are Bill Rolph, Chris Savage and Gail Austin.

Student Parliament Organizes Activities

Under President Jon Overholt, Student Parliament functioned as an active organization. In the fall Slave Day was held as a community service project. Two and one-half times more money was collected than ever before.

As a money-raising project sweatshirts were sold. Several clubs and the basketball teams ordered personalized sweatshirts. A track record scoreboard was made by several members of SP.

SP organized several student meetings to benefit the student-teacher-administration relationship. A committee was organized to make a complete list of rules for OHS students. These students forums brought out many ideas which otherwise might have gone unnoticed.

Jon Overholt, Gary Sturk and John Ruswinckel finish putting up the track record scoreboard.

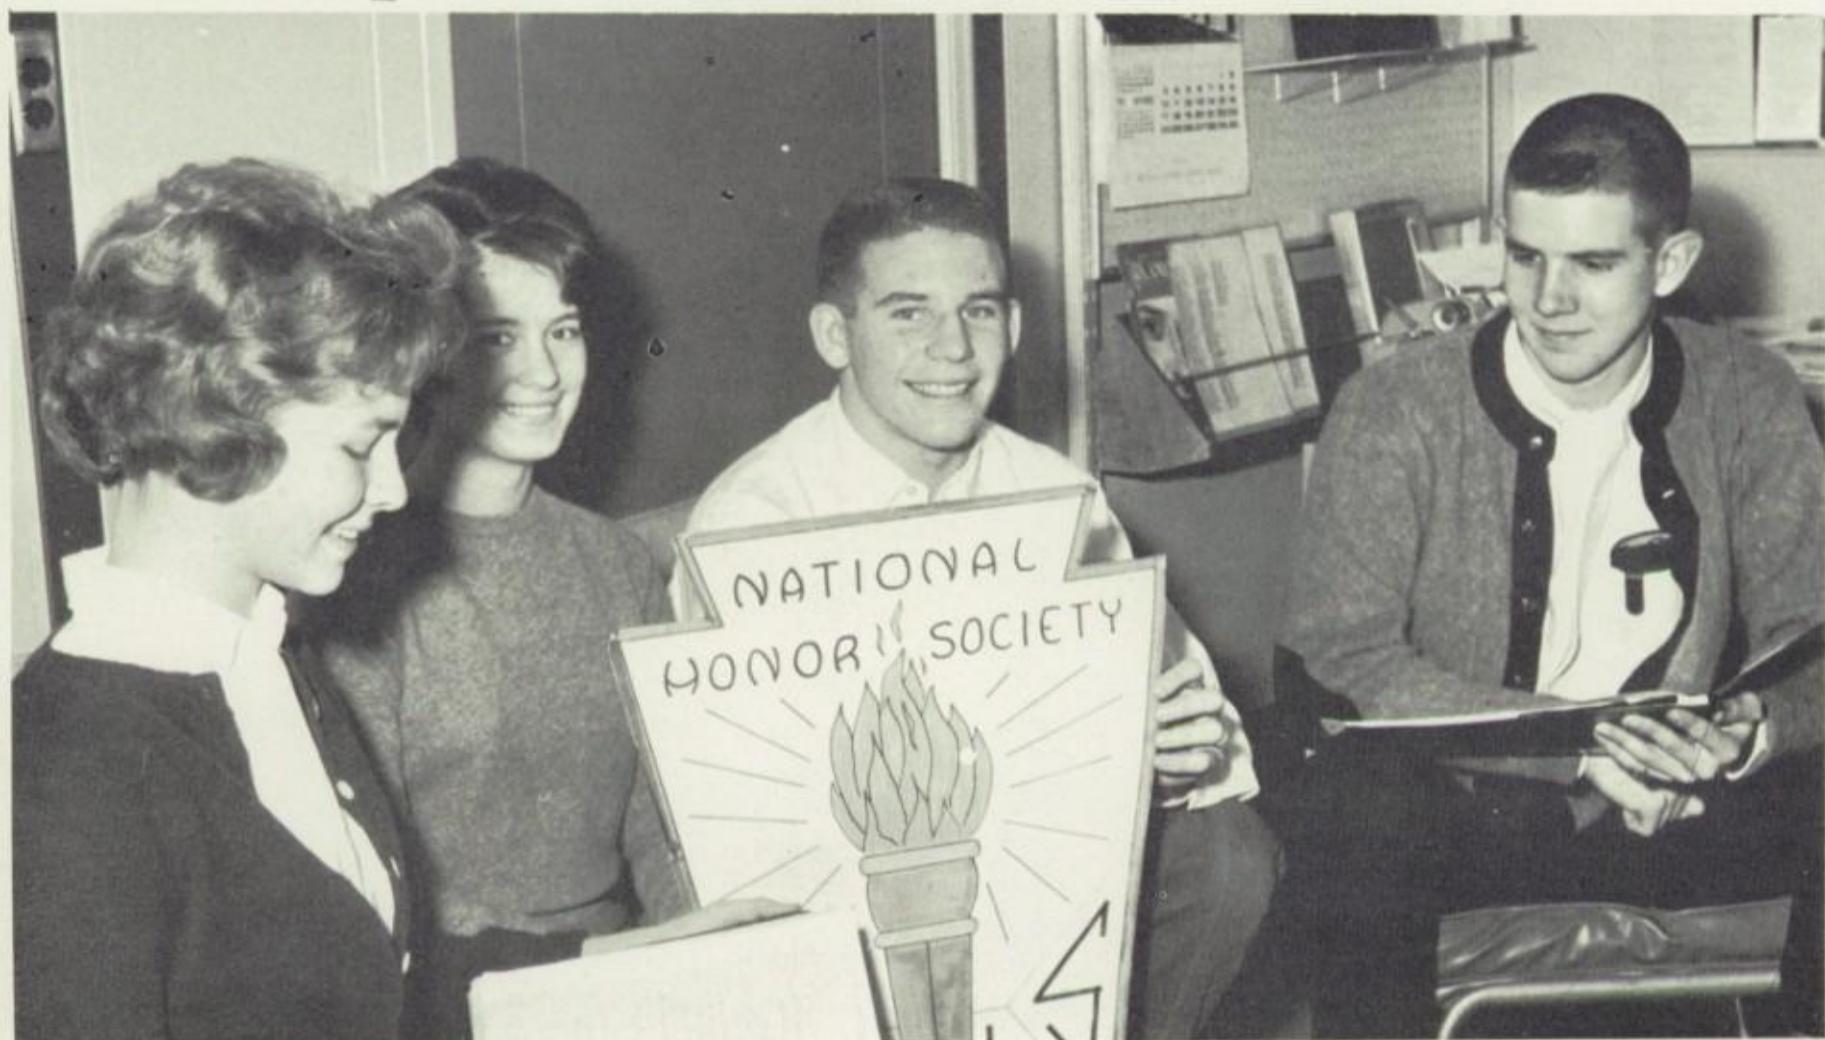

Members of Student Parliament Don Ambrose and Jay Breslin sell sweatshirts to Dave Scott, Dave Hassell and Cheryl Carpenter.

Mr. Dale Brubaker
Social Studies Department

Scholarship Stressed by Honor Society

Officers of Honor Society are Peggy Gray, Patty Vinge, Bob Bratzler and John Ruswinckel.

Honor Society accomplished many things throughout the year. It held its annual fall initiation in October. Mr. Maynard Miller's speech, "Every Man Has His Everest," discussed the problems of reaching one's set goals. There were a total of forty-four members.

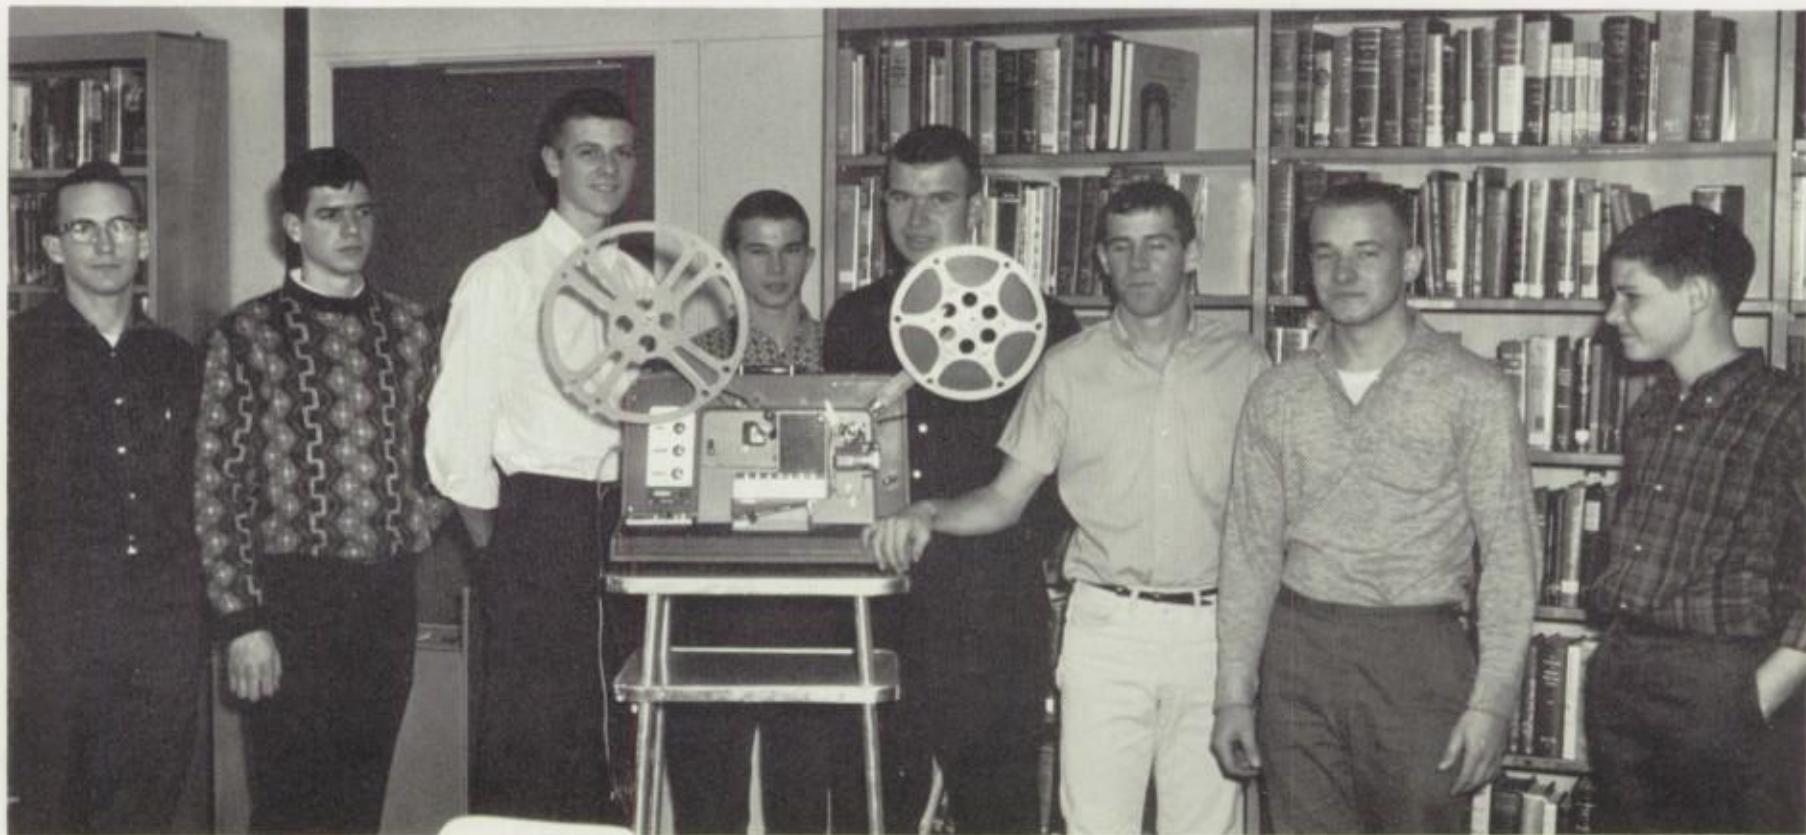

Career day was sponsored by Honor Society. It was held March 12. B'nai Brith spoke on the harm of spreading rumors at the Rumor Clinic held in the spring.

Various service projects were organized by the society. Members served as guides for public meetings and Career Day. Students needing help in various areas of school work were tutored by Honor Society members. A scholarship information file was organized by the society.

Fred Stehman lights the candle of leadership, one of the four values of Honor Society, at the fall initiation.

Librarians, Projectionists Aid Student Learning

Projectionists are Jeff Fraser, Al Van Dyke, Eric Keesler, Rick Blakeslee, Chuck Grettenberger, Kirk Campbell, Lyle Mund and Tom Hickling.

Mrs. Mary Sheldon
Librarian

Putting away a few of the many non-fiction books in the library are Andrea Pavlik and Judy Kralovec.

Librarians: Seated: Beth Jones, Pam Nagle, Judy Kralovec and Andrea Pavlik. Standing: Lyle Mund, Charlotte Read, Jane Van Halst, Janice Kleis, Kris Buehler and Vickie Pearce.

FFA Member Receives Award at County Fair

Jan Thorne and Jeff Ashley prepare two of the sheep owned by the Okemos chapter of FFA for show. Jeff won a blue ribbon for one of his sheep at the Ingham County Fair.

Officers of FFA Chuck Grettenberger, Jeff Ashley and Dave Gustafson plan a future meeting.

Lyle Mund and Chuck Grettenberger observe the growth of a young calf which was raised by the club.

FHA Strives for Betterment of Goals

Because Future Homemakers of America functioned as a small club, its members were able to accomplish more things. Mrs. Margaret Stampfly was its sponsor. FHA sold cookbooks entitled Favorite Recipes of American Home Economic Teachers, as a money raising project.

In the winter the home economic classes baked cookies. The FHA girls packaged them in Christmas wrappings and took them to the Rehabilitation Center. Here the girls sang carols.

FHA went to Michigan State University February 6, for Farmers' Week. Here they viewed many exhibits in the Union, Stadium and Auditorium. After a day at MSU, the girls ate dinner at Foo Ying Chinese Restaurant in Lansing.

Lynn Prosser and Chris Valkanoff plan the club's trip to MSU for Farmers' Week.

Glenna Fox and Janice Chiesa look at one of the cookbooks FHA sold as a money raising project.

Teaching Field Offers Many Opportunities

Future Teachers of America explored many aspects of the field of teaching. Mrs. Virginia Travis sponsored the club. Various movies on the educational area were seen. A movie on the peace corps and armed forces teaching was also viewed. Speakers on specialized education came to OHS to speak. Deanna Caul, a recent graduate of OHS and now a sophomore at MSU, spoke on how a high school senior should prepare himself for college.

While students were out of school for the afternoons of February 12-14, FTA girls spent the time at Central Elementary School observing teaching techniques. Others acted as ushers for the parent-teacher conferences held those afternoons. The Teacher's Tea was given in the spring.

Mrs. Virginia Travis
English Department

FTA officers are seated: Amy Schiff, Vickie Pearce and Vicki McGowan; standing: Jan Schiff and Sue Warner.

Discussing the education of foreign lands are Harri Lehmusvuori, Steffi Saebel, Theo Wallin, Pam Nagle and Joe Freiser.

Students Examine Medical Field

FNA

Future Nurses of America explored many aspects of the medical field. Mrs. Susan Smith sponsored the club. FNA girls, as a service project, made paper statues of pilgrims which were sent to the Rehabilitation Center. A trip to a hospital was also planned.

Various speakers attended meetings and spoke of the different phases of the medical profession.

Officers of FNA are Pat Vinge, Marilyn Cheney, Pat Harmon, Barb Bartlett and Sharon Anderson.

Candy Stripers

Merri Lewis hands Karen Gregg a cap as Karen prepares for an afternoon of volunteer work.

Many OHS girls worked as Candy Stripers at Sparrow Hospital. They delivered flowers, did any odd jobs and tried to make the patients as comfortable as possible. These girls usually spent one afternoon a month at the hospital working.

Clerical Career Interests Students

Patty Remus and Gay VanValkenburg finish putting up a bulletin board in the typing room.

Business Club strived to promote interest in business careers for OHS students upon graduation from high school. Miss Margaret Berry sponsored the club.

Throughout the year, club activities included guest speakers from various phases of business; field trips to local offices and companies; discussions on grooming and office etiquette; studying personal forms and interview procedures; and skills that would be required for different clerical and secretarial jobs.

Officers of Business Club are seated: Anne Harvey and Chris Valkanoff; standing: Diane Christie and Cheryl Dyke.

Spanish Objects Interest Students

Spanish Club enjoyed many activities such as its first project when it undertook the building of its homecoming float entry. The float was constructed at the home of Chairman Janne Rutherford, a senior. Sponsored by Capitol Savings and Loan Company of Okemos, the float won a $15 first-place prize.

Spanish Club's annual Christmas party was held December 17 in the high school cafeteria. Highlight of the evening was the breaking of a piñata. Pilar Socarrás, formerly of Cuba, now residing in Lansing, was guest singer.

As a Christmas project club members made Christmas cards and sent them to an elementary school in Cali, Columbia. The Columbian school also received $25 to purchase school supplies.

Speakers at club meetings included OHS students who had visited Spanish-speaking countries. Trisha Love and Jan Garlinghouse showed slides of their trips to Mexico. Sue Perkins brought Puerto Rican records for the club to hear.

Steve York, Sue Crafton and Sue Perkins admire a sarape and some Mexican dolls the Perkins family obtained in Mexico during a recent visit.

Spanish Club officers Pat Douglas, Paula Chase, Beth Alderman, Carol Reed, Dave Winters and Janne Rutherford discuss one of South America's large cities.

Trisha Love and Sue Ball look at a colorful Mexican piñata which belongs to Mrs. Mosher.

Students Participate in Drama Club Plays

Drama Club, now in its second year, presented two plays. The first was "You Can't Take It With You" presented in the winter.

A musical, "Bye Bye Birdie" was given in the spring. This was the first time a musical-comedy has been presented by Drama Club. Students tried out for singing, dancing and acting parts. Mrs. Carol Ford, club sponsor, chose a student's strongest talent and gave him a well-suited part. Drama Club began a lecture series by people from Michigan State University who spoke on the different phases of the theater. Drama club planned to see a play at Wayne State University.

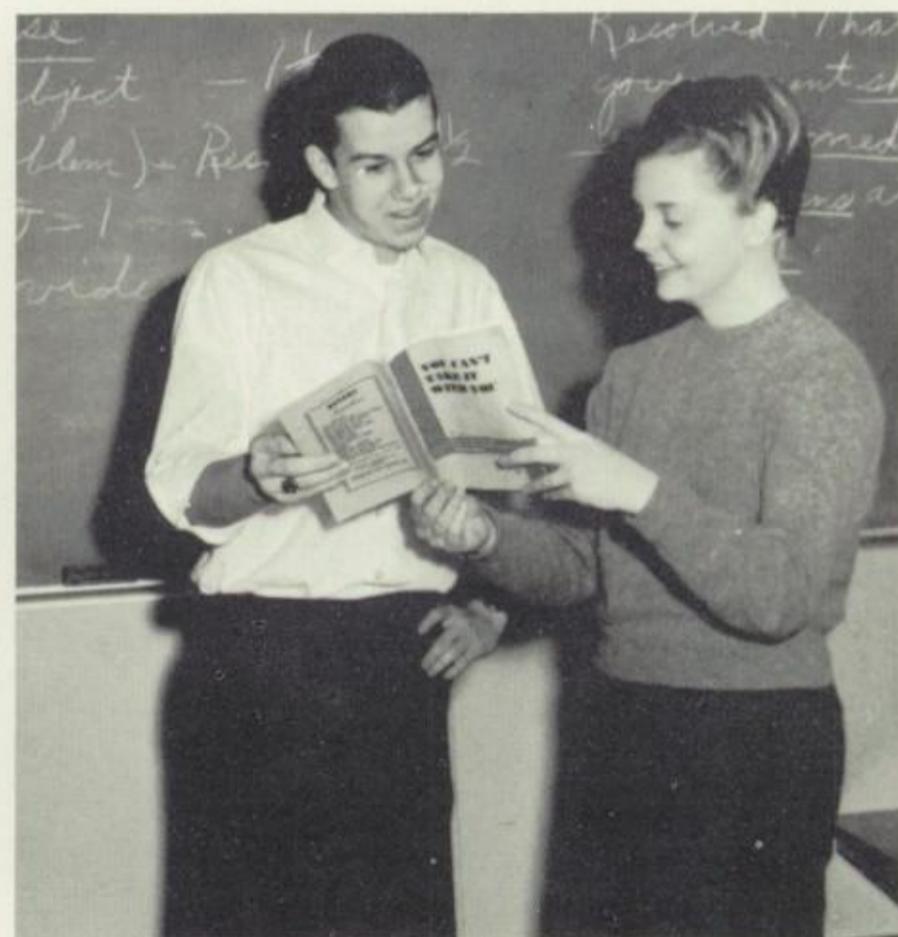

Planning try-outs and finances for the spring musical are Drama Club officers seated: Barb Baker, Pat Vinge and Anne Dahnke; standing: Larry Avery, Mary Willett and Trisha Love.

Putting up a sign advertising "You Can't Take It With You" are Connie Buchanan and Liz Tanner who made most of the posters.

Trying out for a part in "You Can't Take It With You" are Bill Burrows and Marilyn McNamara.

Okicholiers Knowledge of Music Increases

Carolyn Ripley and John Stratton don their chorus robes for the Christmas Concert.

The soprano section of Okicoliers practices for one of its more difficult parts.

Students Discuss Problems of OHS

Students listen to Connie Hawkins' opinion while students decide if rules were properly stated as to control the student body effectively.

The rules committee meets to look over the school handbook to discard obsolete or misunderstood rules.

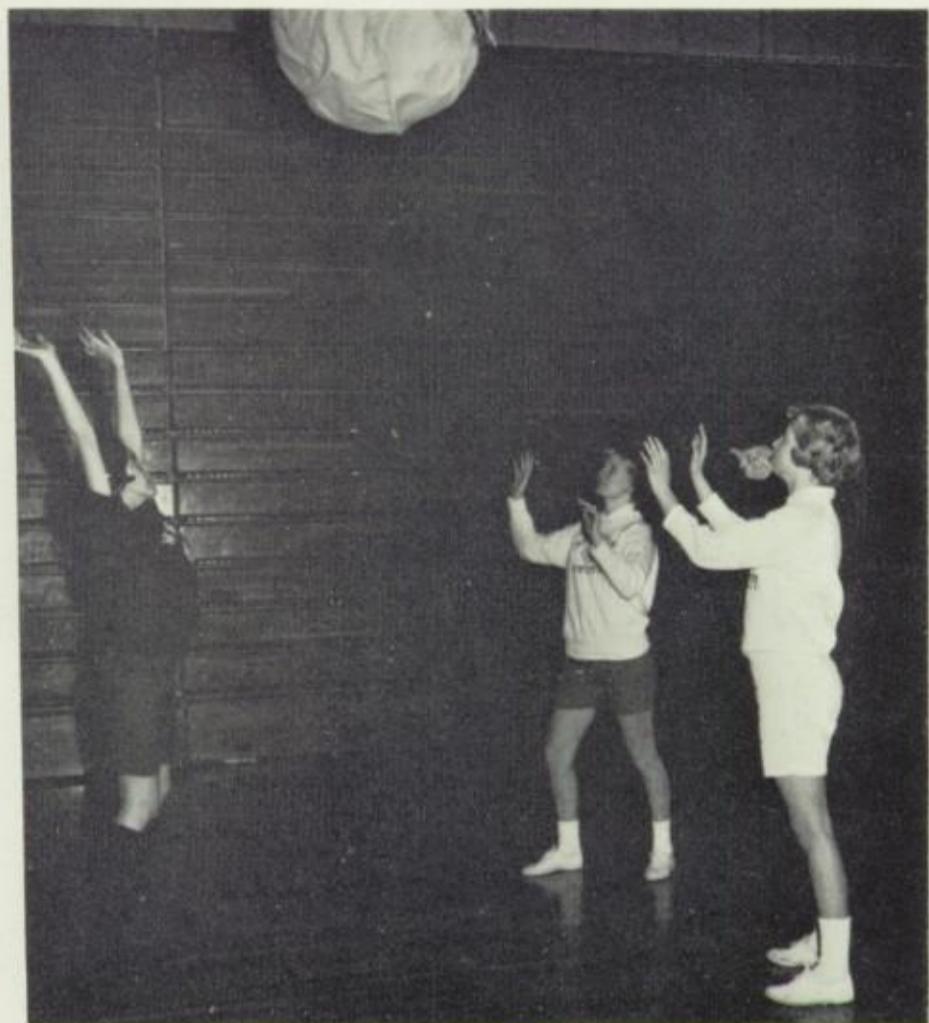

Physical Fitness Stressed in GAA

The officers of GAA are: front row: Carol Hickling and Vickie Pearce; back row: Bonnie Lantz, Rilla Haga, Mary Guile and Jean Guile.

Girls Athletic Association participated in many sports. Among them were tumbling, volleyball, basketball and cage ball. The girls visited the Michigan State water show in the spring.

Inter-school activities were also planned. GAA went to other schools to compete in sports while other schools came to OHS. These days were organized so that students could meet girls from various schools. While attending other schools GAA played kickball, tennis, and swam.

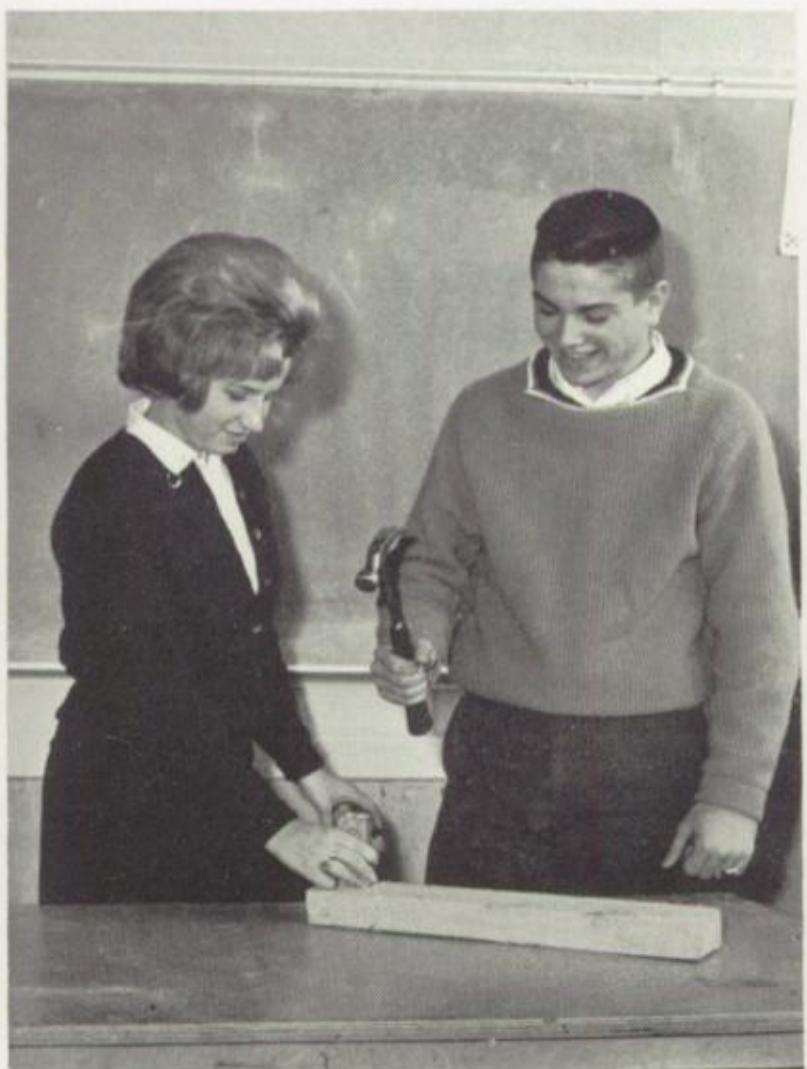

Sue Garlinghouse, Erin Keesler and Ann Webber compete in a game of cage ball.

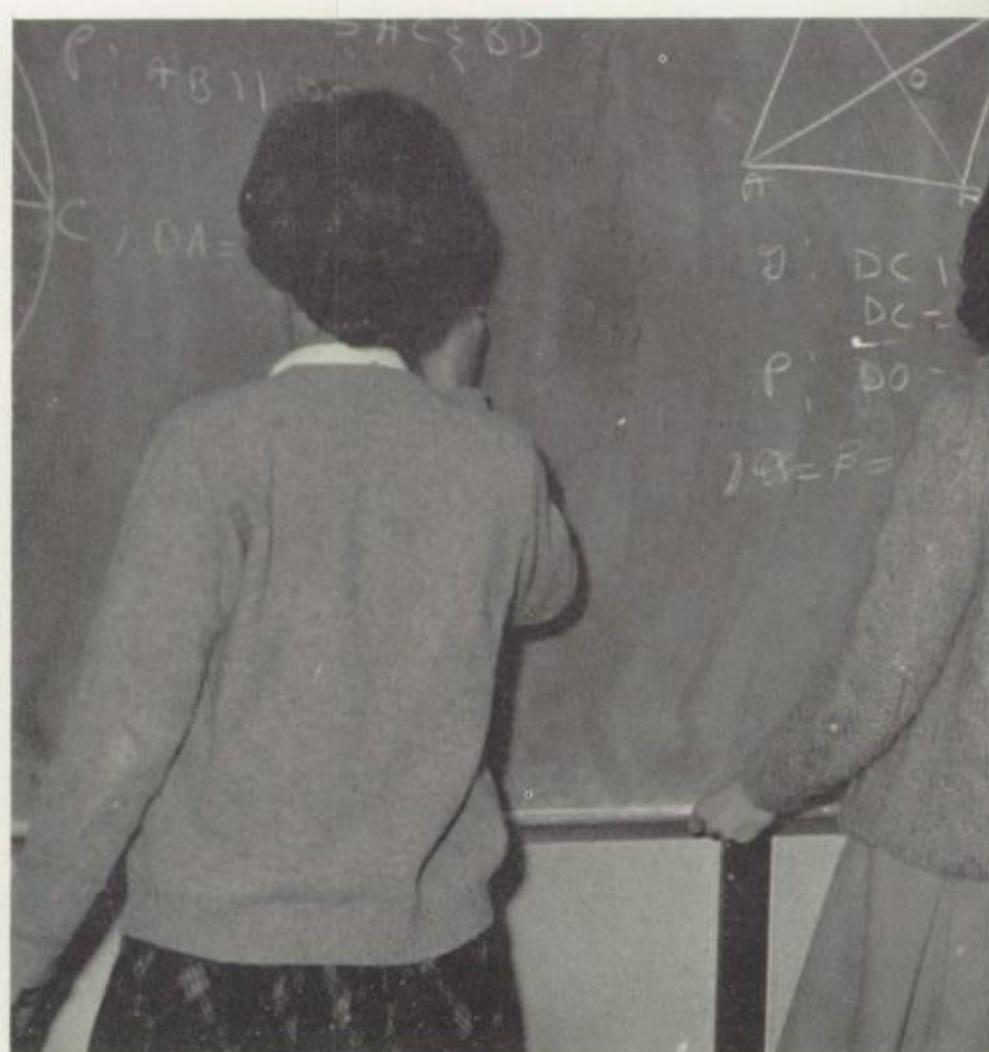

Mary Unruh "spots" Janice Kleis as she does a vault over the high bar on the uneven parallel bars.

Progress in Curriculum

Students have witnessed an era of progress in the curriculum at Okemos High School. For the first time a program of cooperative training was offered to qualified students wishing to combine studies with work.

Business retailing, world and physical geography, sociology and creative writing provided students with an opportunity to enter into new fields. The courses allowed the student body to participate in unlimited branches of education while introducing them to the possibilities they hold for the future.

Two New Classes Contribute to Curriculum

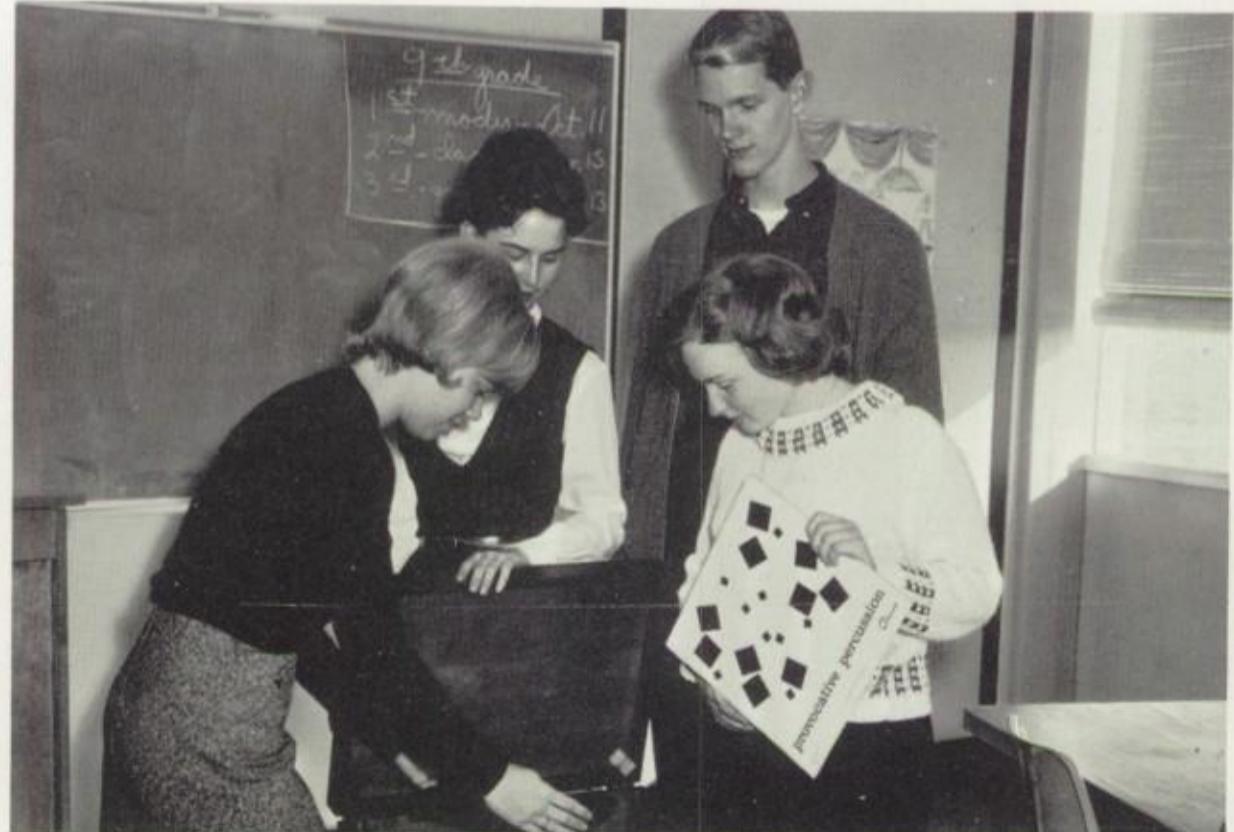

Wally Schrubkowski, Beth Alderman, Jay Guertin, Jan Heiser and Pat Vinge practice a debate.

Mrs. Carol Ford
Speech Teacher

The debate class, new this year, is taught and coached as a team by Mrs. Ford. This year the team joined both the Capital Circuit and State leagues.

Drama was added to the curriculum for the first time this year. The class, taught by Mrs. Carol Ford, studied the history of the theater for a short time and then turned to dramatics.

Jan Layne, Kuni Nuechterlein, Arlo Peterson and Barb Baker start some music for pantomimes.

Speaking and Writing Practiced

Greg Johnson, Irene Townsend and Chuck Gao gather material for their debate in Speech I.

Working on writing short stories are Brock Hotaling, Sally Everhardus, Conny Hawkins and Mark White.

Speech I and II, taught by Mrs. Carol Ford, were classes designed to teach the techniques of public speaking. Along with speech, debate and dramatics were offered.

Writing class, taught by Miss Marcia Boznango, studied both expository and creative writing. Students were taught the importance of clarity and reader interest. All forms and styles of writing were studied.

Languages Increase International Understanding

Karen McGowan shows Henry Koch, Irene Townsend, Glen Gronseth, Trisha Love, Cindy Johnson and Bruce Mork a point of interest on the Arc de Triomphe. French II students spend time on the culture of France as well as the French language.

Latin students find that Latin is not a "dead" language. While learning to write and speak Latin, students find many words similar to their respective words in English.

Yearbook, Journalism Students Strive for Accuracy

Lead by Editor Jan Heiser, the 1964 Tomahawk staff of seven members spent many hours compiling the major events of the year into a history of Okemos High School. This year's book was increased by eight pages. A seal, the first of its kind at Okemos, was made for the cover. The pictures were taken by LeClear Studios of Lansing.

in Publications

For the first time in its five-year history, the Drumbeat had a boy editor, a senior, Eric Curtis. Lancea McCloud, for the second year, was responsible for typing and running stencils. Other editors were Sue Garlinghouse, copy; Barb Baker, art; Dave Gustafson, sports; and Pete Georgiady, typing. Miss Boznango served as advisor for both the yearbook and the newspaper.

Pete Georgiady, Barb Baker, Sue Garlinghouse and Eric Curtis work on the next edition of the Drumbeat.

Members of the Drumbeat staff type up copy for editor Eric Curtis to check.

The Drumbeat staff spent classroom time studying the mechanics of journalism and working for column inches for the school paper. It also wrote stories for Meridian News, Ingham County News and School Report.

The staff not only learned how to write articles and features but it learned how to use stencil and mimeograph machines which were vital to the production of the paper.

Sue Warner explains a problem to Greg Young, Eric Curtis and John Thomas in Mr. Doug Richey's senior accelerated math class.

Mathematic Students Build Concepts

Mr. Nordrum explains a formula to Nancy Marmon and Coleen Gronseth.

Math classes teach students concepts in math and reasoning. A wide range of math was offered in classes including algebra, trig, geometry, consumers' math and advanced courses designed to help superior students learn as much as possible to prepare for college courses.

Carol Reed, Cary Hawkins, Mary Willet and Jeff Ashley discuss parts of the globe.

Sue, have a

World and physical geography are new semester additions to the curriculum this year. The courses' main goals are to acquaint students with the physical, economic, and social forces interacting about them.

Physical and Biological Science Classes Teach

Mr. Roland Cook's physical science class watches a movie on conservation.

*Mr. John
Bjorkquist
Science Department*

Physical science covers topics such as water and its uses, acids, bases and light. It is a science course designed to present a general survey of several fields of science.

Biology offers a basic study of the physical and chemical bases for life and how these are related to the cell. Local field trips were made to support classroom study.

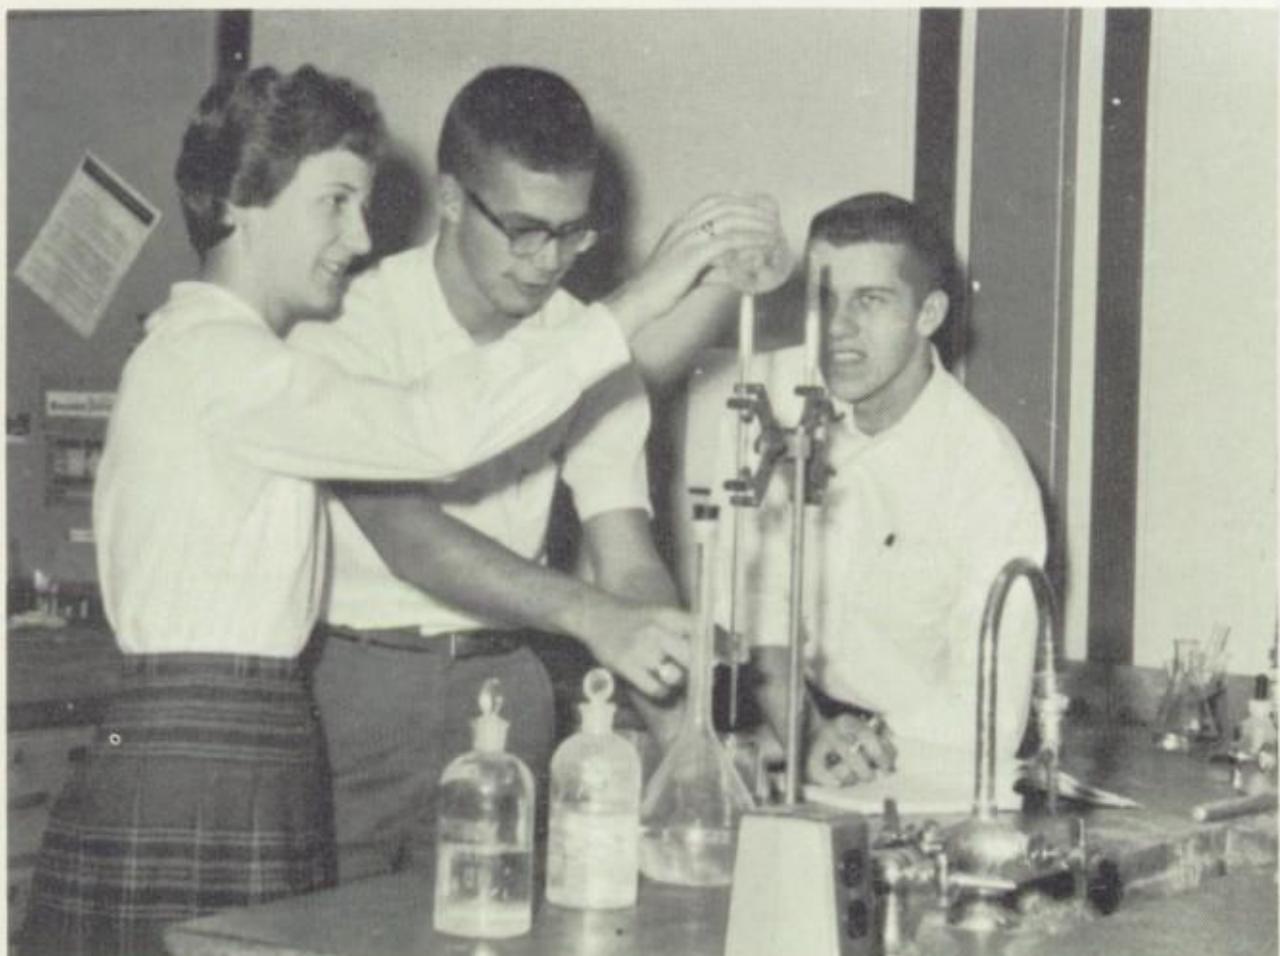

Vernita Gates and Jean Guile discuss types of butterflies and moths.

Concepts and Methods

*Mr. Joseph
Walbridge
Science
Department*

Mary Guile, Gil Conklin and Bill Burrows work on a titration experiment.

Ardith Coon and Chuck Gaa work on a light experiment while John Ruswinkle, Ellery Cook and Alan VanDyke work with electricity.

Students broaden their knowledge of applied sciences in Mr. Joseph Walbridge's chemistry and physics classes. The new two-hour block system made it possible for Mr. Walbridge to lecture for an hour and have students work in the laboratory for the remaining hour.

History Classes Analyze the Past

Karen Beck and Sue Perkins use class time to study their history for a test.

The course in American history starts with the early growth of America and proceeds up to the present — selecting those facts and events which contribute to the understanding of America.

Mr. Loren Brown
Social Studies Department

World history is a survey of the growth of civilization from early man to the present day. Students study history so that they will better understand the societies of today.

Beth Jones and Gary Weeber talk to Mr. Loren Brown about an event in American history.

Mr. Dale Brubaker discusses some questions with Cary Hawkins, Paul Chanel, Eric Curtis and Chuck Gaa.

Students Study People and Government

Ingrid Sturk and Bill Sower discuss religions and how they affect societies in Mr. Peterson's sociology class.

Mrs. Dorothy Peterson
Social Studies Department

Government class spent half of the year studying philosophies of government before going into the specific methods of American government.

Sociology students studied information about the historical background, current status and apparent trends relative to each of society's major problems.

Co-op Training Program Initiated

Mike McDowell keeps stock in order at Delind's Hardware.

Susie Scott sells baked goods at the Okemos Pastry Shop.

Co-op is designed for students who can benefit from a learning situation outside of the classroom. The students are in school one-half day and at the work station the second-half. A minimum of fifteen hours of work a week is necessary to be in the program. The course is open primarily to seniors, both those planning and not planning college work.

Valuable Business Courses Offered

*Miss Margaret
Berry
Business
Department*

Jan Mensendick shows Russ Leonard how to do an assignment while

Jane VanHalst and Jim Kiomento complete a business letter.

Chris Valkanoff, Carolyn Ripley, Judy Kralovec and Janice Chiesa take a dictation test in Miss Berry's shorthand class.

Students prepared for business opportunities through courses in retailing, shorthand, business law, typing and book-keeping. They have found that the skills taught in the business department are of great value directly after graduation.

In typing, students learned the keyboard, the operation of the various parts of the machine and developed a fair typing speed. Manuscripts, personal letters, business letters and tabulation were taught.

Ag Classes Study Farming Methods

Glenn Ottinger and Mike Hickey work on an engine in the ag shop. Shop experience in ag proves very helpful after graduation.

*Mr. Roland Cook
Agriculture
Department*

The agriculture classes gave practical experience in raising animals, crops, gardens, fertilizers, landscaping, tractor operation and maintenance. In the four offered years of ag, the courses vary from basic methods to advanced farm management.

Lyle Mund and Rich Romwalter keep a log in position as Chuck Grettenberger uses the lift on the tractor to hoist it onto a trailer.

Home Economics Classes Study Living

Jackie Heyboer and Pat Gulliver discuss the steps taken when guests are expected for dinner.

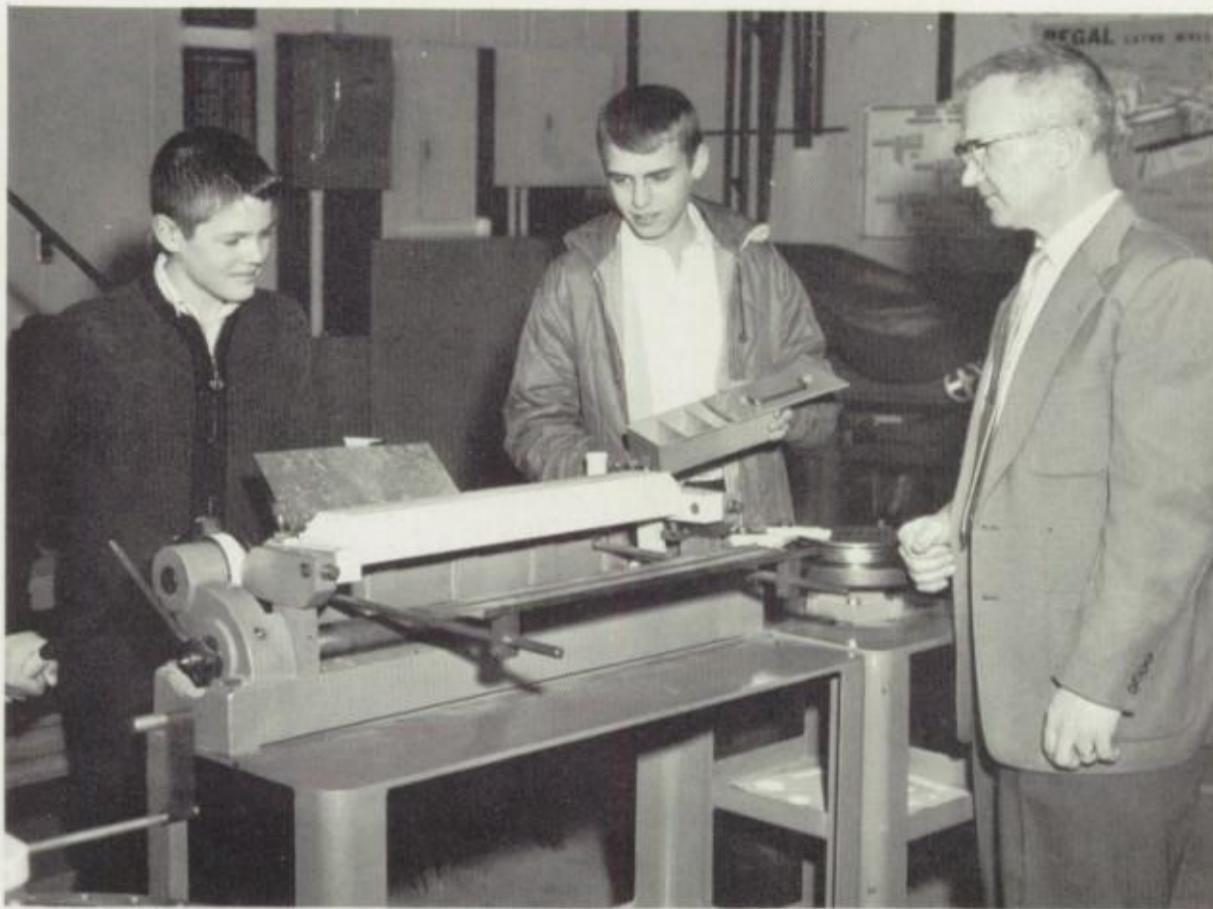

Ralph Guthrie shows Janice Kleis and Violet Braum the procedure in washing a baby.

Mrs. Margaret Stampfly
Home Economics Department

Home economics classes are based on the problem of modern living. Included in subjects covered are money management, thorough study of budgeting, insurance, credit and consumer buying problems and basic principles in planning a home.

Shop Classes Develop Important Skills

Rob Copland works on the sheet metal bender while Steve Rogers shows him what the finished product looks like.. Mr. Kapella watches their work.

The industrial arts department offers experience in drawing, woodwork, metal and electrical work. The general metals class offers experience in sheet metal, bends and art metal, forge, heat treat, foundry, enameling, precision lathe, soldering; arc, gas, and spot welding.

Mr. Edward Kapella
Industrial Arts
Department

Mike Hogle and Steve Premer work with the forge. When the metal is melted it is poured into a mold for casting.

Drafting students Rick Neuman, Greg Young, Tom Sonnonmon and Steve Premer work on drawings in drafting I and II.

Design Learned in Drafting and Art

John Sweet, Pat Harmon, Ellery Cook and Kristin Powell work on some art projects.

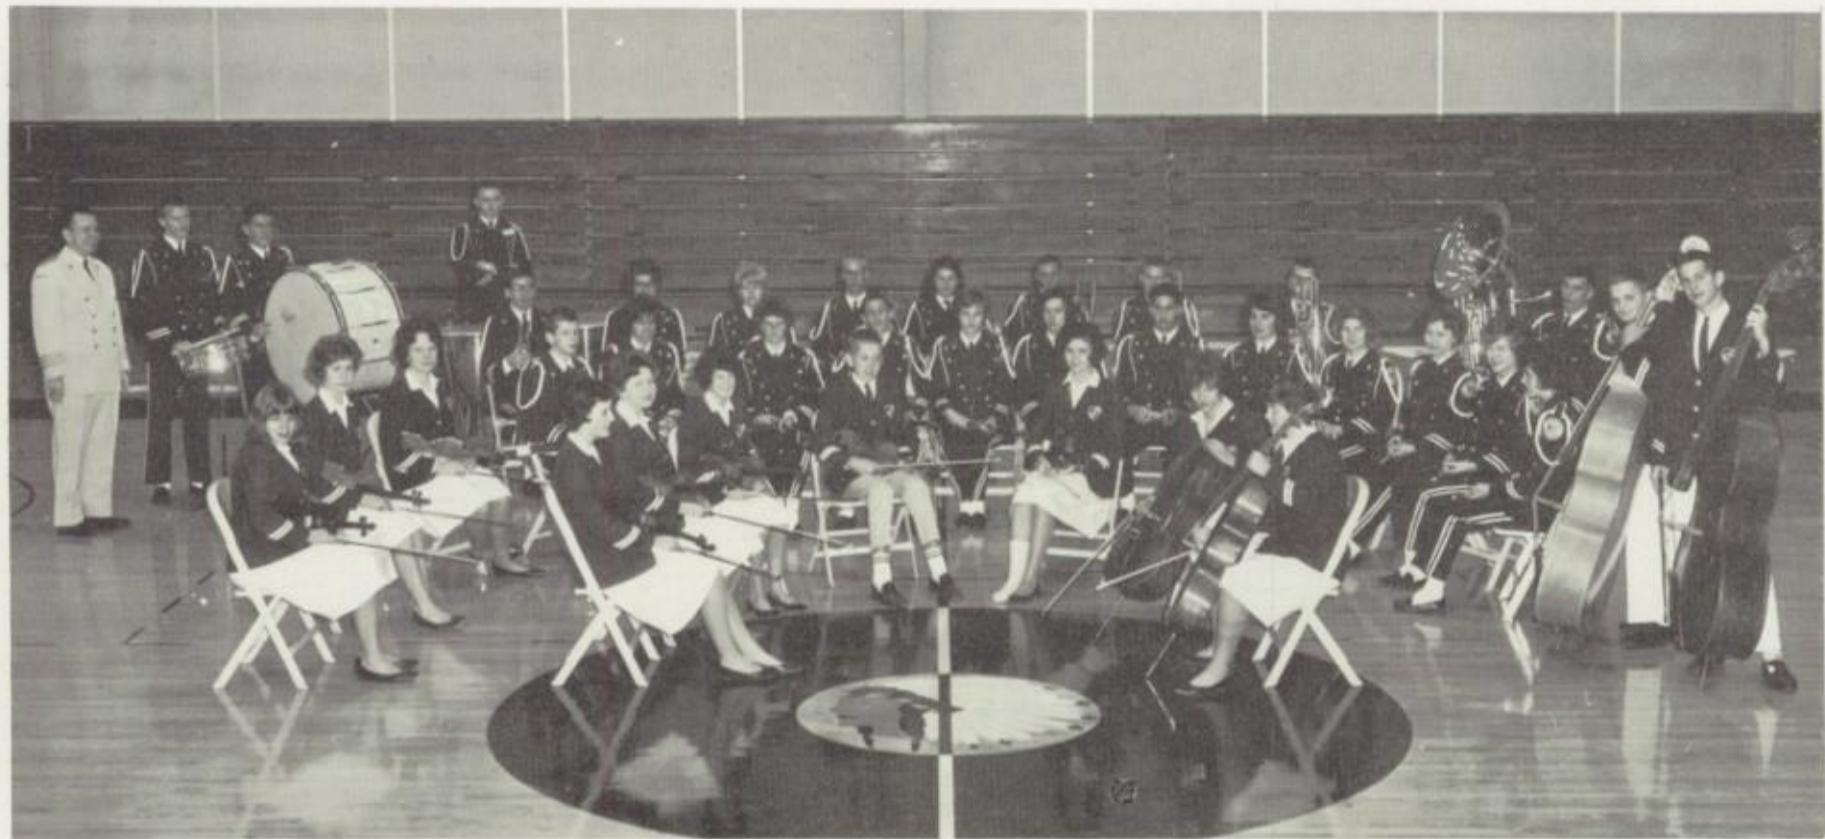

Drafting students spent much time developing drawing and planning skills, spending both hours of the two-hour block system on their work.

The art classes, also taking advantage of the block system, learned relationships between colors and shapes and how to reproduce them on paper.

The counseling department aided students with problems that arose during the year. Staffed by Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. Peterson and Mr. Raymond, the department also helped students in planning their futures. Through testing and counseling, students were aided in their decisions about colleges, courses to take and job qualifications.

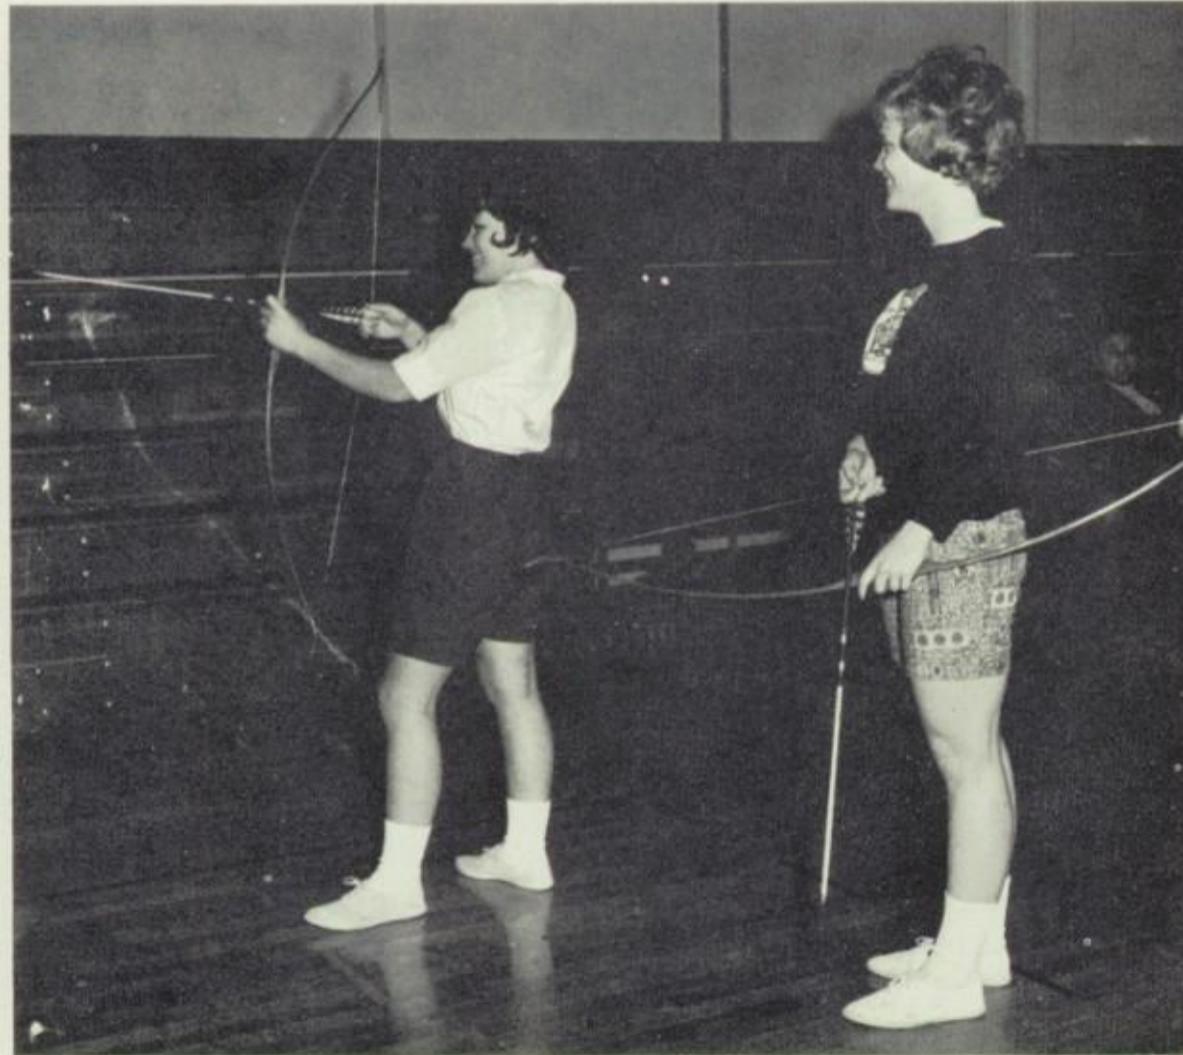

Mrs. Lamb and Mr. Raymond organize test scores from Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude tests.

Physical Education Builds Healthy Bodies

Physical education students spent time building healthy bodies. Under the direction of Mr. Baker and Miss Borst, students learned the basic skills of many sports including basketball, baseball, soccer, football, volleyball, wrestling and cross country. This year physical education was mandatory for all freshmen and sophomores.

Jeff Ramsey and Jeff Michels work on their basketball skills.

Pam Diehl and Carol Wagonvoord practice their archery.

Progress in Challenge

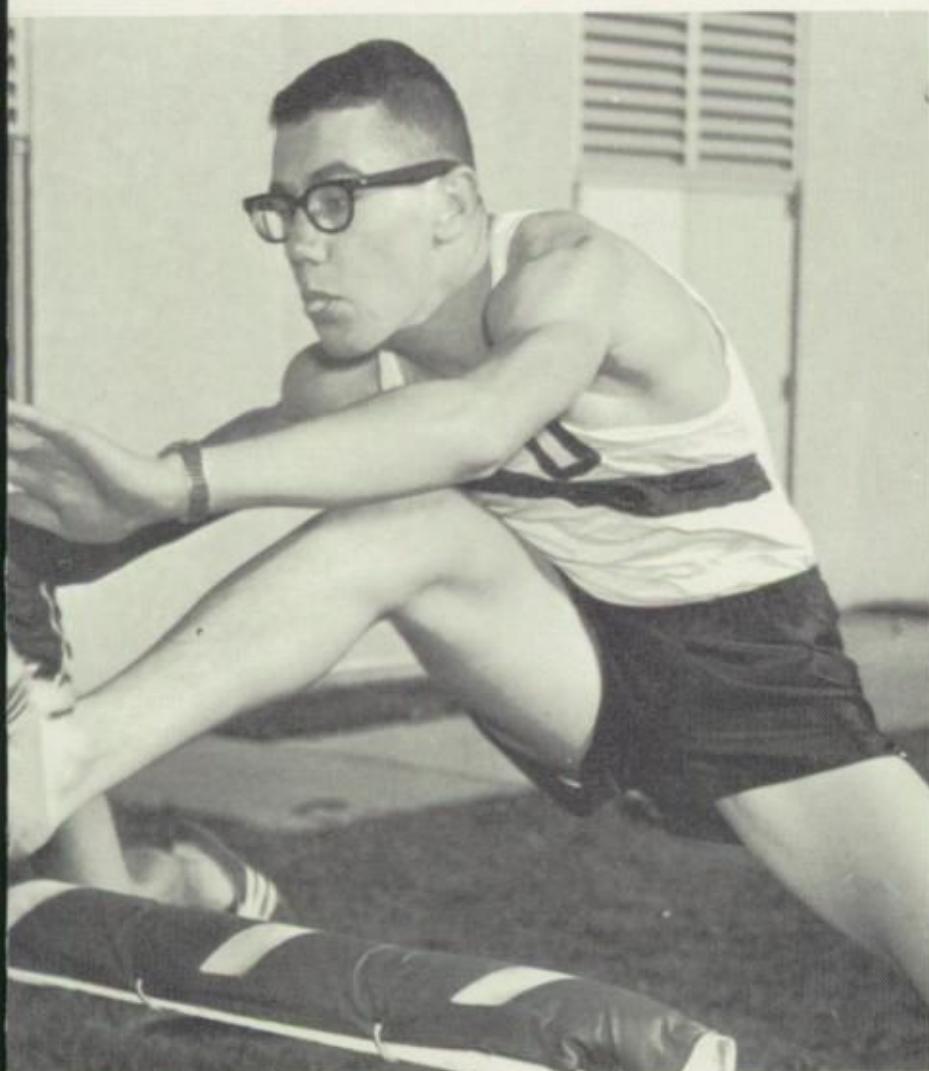

1.

Athletic competition in the Capital Circuit provided a balance with scholastic achievements. League sports offered interested students the opportunity to develop their co-ordinate ability along with their minds.

Okemos placed third in basketball and football while the wrestling team represented the incentive put forth by individual effort in tying for first place with Eaton Rapids and winning the regional competition.

Okemos has met the challenge of team co-operation and initiative in sports as well as academics.

Band Marches For Half-Time Shows

The Okemos High School Marching Band steps off at the whistle of Greg Miller.

As darkness swept over the bright colors of autumn Friday nights, the sound of crowds and cheers could be heard penetrating the air. Adding to this football atmosphere was the Okemos High School Marching Band.

Under the direction of Mr. Don Mueller, the band performed during the pre-game and half-time periods at the home football games. Each week the band performed under a new theme, the highlight being the homecoming theme "Dixie."

On the field the band was led by drum major Greg Miller and was assisted by six twirlers. The twirlers were seniors Pam Nagle and Gail Turner, juniors Merri Lewis and Linda Kaiser, sophomore Claire Bidwell and freshman Darcie Lewis. The drum major was chosen by the band in the spring of 1962. The twirlers were selected by Mr. Don Mueller and his assistants after extensive tryouts.

A highlight of the marching season was the trip to Michigan State University for the annual band day. They represented the school as they marched with other area bands at the pre-game and half-time periods.

Pep Band Boosts Spirit At Pep Rallies

Bob Bratzler, Don Black, Fred Stehman, Dave Shadduck, Dave Winters, Eric Keesler, Will Schultz, Gary Sturk, Greg Miller, Dave Overhouse, Dave Brower, Doug Delind, Bill Burrows.

As students approached the gym for pep rallies, the sound of spirited music could be heard filtering through the doors. Music was played by the OHS pep band under the direction of Mr. Don Mueller.

The 13-member pep band was a usual sight at rallies and other events. It co-ordinated with the cheerleaders to raise school spirit.

Members were chosen by means of proficiency in playing and previous membership in the group.

The band was made up of eight seniors and five juniors.

Cheerleaders Applaud Teams To Victory

Varsity and reserve cheerleaders under the sponsorship of Miss Gretchen Borst helped the teams to victory through their tireless efforts.

The varsity cheerleaders were composed of two seniors, two juniors and two sophomores. Seniors were Carol Wagenvoord and Pam Diehl; juniors, Captain Kris Powell, and Bev Smith; sophomores, Marilyn Cheney and Cindy Wang.

The reserves were all first-year cheerleaders. They were sophomores Captain Nancy Marmon, Mary Jo Wronski, Debbie Taylor and Pam Cobb; freshmen were Gina Crandell and Sheila Corkrey.

Both the varsity and reserves attended Camp All-American last summer. The varsity won a first place trophy and several ribbons.

All-conference winners Jay Guertin and Lee Meadows helped pace Okemos High School's injury-stricken football team to a third place finish in the Capital Circuit League in the 1963 season.

The team finished the season with a record of 4-3 in the Capital Circuit and a 4-4 record for the entire season. Teams defeated by the Chiefs were Mason, Holt, O'Rafferty and Haslett. The highlight of the season was the Mason game where the Chiefs thoroughly scalped the highly-rated Bulldogs. When the Bulldogs entered the game, they were rated tenth in the state and had scored 70 points to their opponents six points.

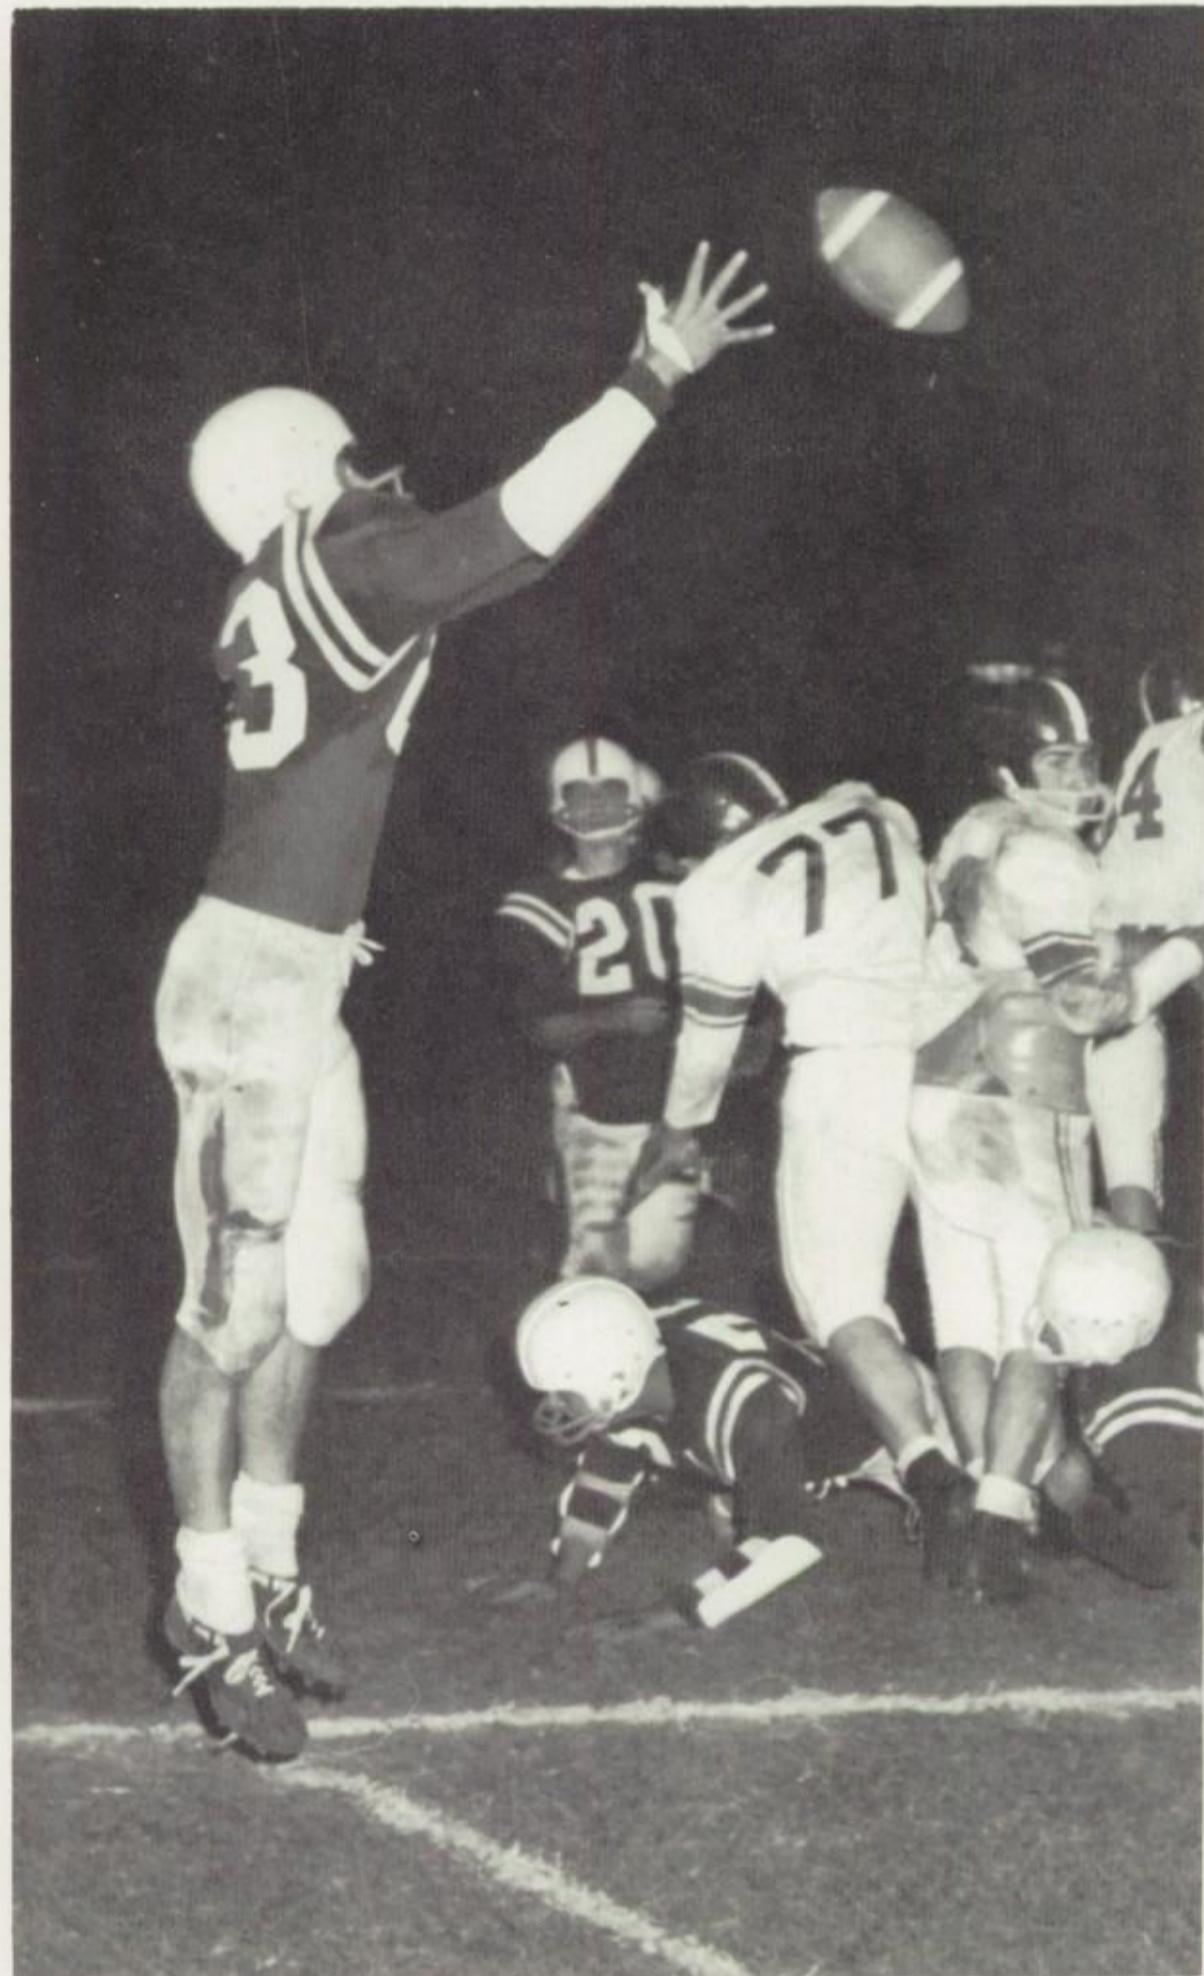

One of the best backfields in recent years will be returning next year. These returning lettermen are Jay Guertin, Tom Keller, Russ Boykin and Pat Karslake.

The Okemos seniors who will leave the team are Bob Bratzler, Lee Meadows, Chet Wosko, Gary Sturk, Ralph Guthrie, Fred Stehman, Dave Shadduck, Roger Link, Ron Davis, Jon Overholt, Bob Forsberg, Cary Hawkins, Larry Gober and Greg Johnson.

With the swish of the net and the feel of victory, the Chieftain varsity basketball team moved to a third place tie with Mason in the Capital Circuit League.

The Chiefs started the Capital Circuit season rambling past Mason 68-51. They then had six straight victories defeating Haslett, O'Rafferty, Gabriels, Eaton Rapids, Howell and Holt. Mason and Haslett then defeated the Chiefs 88-62 and 50-48. The Chieftains closed out the season with three victories and two defeats, the victories being over O'Rafferty, Eaton Rapids and Howell. The losses were to Gabriels and Holt.

With the end of the Capital Circuit season, the Chiefs jumped into District competition. They rambled past the Waverly Warriors in the first game by a score of 98-44, highest score of the season. In this game, every member of the team scored.

In the semi-finals Okemos slipped past Gabriels 61-60. In the finals Okemos met a better foe as they were downed by Holt 57-47.

The Okemos High School track team was strengthened this year by the return of twelve lettermen led by seniors Gary Sturk, Jim Somers, Don Black, Lynn Van Sickler, Jon Overholt and Chuck Gaa. The other five returning lettermen were juniors Dennis Zuver and Will Schultz and seniors Eric Keesler, Dave Shadduck and Greg Miller.

Gary Sturk and Lynn Van Sickler were this year's main sprinters with Greg Miller and Jon Overholt doing the hurdling. Middle-distance runners were Dennis Zuver, Don Black and Will Schultz; long-distance runners were Jim Somers, Glen Gronseth and Pete Georgiady.

This year's Capital Circuit race was dominated by Haslett, Howell, Holt and Okemos.

Jay Guertin and Dave Johnson compare scores after practice.

Progress in Character

Students at Okemos High School looked at one another during the year and many realized how much they had changed. Four years ago, the girl at the front desk had worn braces and was fat. Now she was slim and pretty. Two years ago one of the fellows was a problem; last year he was cooperative and helpful.

A year ago a student wasn't sure he wanted to enroll with a certain teacher; this year he hopes he will get him again next year.

All of us, students and teachers, changed, adjusted and grew as we became better acquainted with each other and our school.

1. Students discuss many things while eating in the OHS cafeteria. 2. A high school is the ground work for the character of our country. 3. Students plan and work together on many projects.

Class Officers, Top Ten Reflect Leadership, Scholars

Senior Class activities were led by Marilou Peterson, secretary; Jan Layne, treasurer; Dave Overhouse, president; Vickie Pearce, vice-president.

As seniors we spent the busiest of our four high school years. We not only had more homework but also had more extracurricular activities. As the oldest members of the school body, we were school leaders.

One of our efforts in the area of school leadership was our idea to form a student forum. The purpose of the forum was to get a better representation of students involved in discussion of school rules and student problems than was obtained in Student Parliament.

Leaders of our 120-member class were Dave Overhouse, president; Vickie Pearce, vice-president; Marilou Peterson, secretary; Jan Layne, treasurer. Our Student Parliament representatives were Bob Bratzler, Glen Gronseth, Fred Stehman and Peggy Gray, alternate. Jon Overholt was Student Parliament president.

All of us enrolled in American Government and English. Physics, foreign languages, math and assistantships were also selected by seniors.

Two of our extracurricular scholastic activities were Senior and Government Seminars. In Senior Seminar, held once a month, we read and discussed various literary works. Government Seminar was held for the purpose of discussion, so we met when we felt we had something to discuss. Both seminars provided extra knowledge and a freer atmosphere for exchange of ideas than was available in the classroom.

ic Abilities of Senior Class

Another activity of our senior year was taking exams for scholarships. We earned money toward college and received our final acceptances into colleges.

Ordering announcements, having pictures taken and being fit for robes were final preparations for graduation. We were the first class to use maroon robes for boys and white robes for girls in commencement exercises. Baccalaureate was held June 7. Commencement took place June 9.

Junior Class Co-presidents Represent New Idea in Junior Class activities were headed by Mary Crafton and Jay Guertin, co-presidents; Dave Winters, vice-president; Merri Lewis, secretary; Bonnie Lantz, treasurer.

We began our first year as upperclassmen with a new sense of responsibility. As juniors we were more active than ever in school government and activities. We held more club offices and had more voice in club activities.

Colleges and careers become important to us. We had to examine several colleges, limiting the number we might attend to two or three. Thoughts of careers became more serious. We no longer shrugged and said, "Maybe I'll do this . . ."

Our homecoming float, "Beat Those Cotton-picking Rams," received an honorable mention. Dick Hill and Doug DeLind headed the committee for our float, which was built at Will Schultz's house. Bonnie Lantz and Bill Burrows represented our class on the homecoming court.

We sponsored the prom May 23 in the Jack Tar ballroom. Dick Hill was chairman of the prom committee.

By the end of our junior year, we felt prepared to be seniors. We had become school leaders and were ready to head the school in such functions as Student Parliament and Honor Society. By choosing or limiting our career and college plans, we knew what we would be working toward in our senior year.

Class of '65 Sponsors 'Sugar Shack'

Renee Runciman and Patty Remus sell tickets to Ellen Warner and Arlo Peterson for the junior dance, "Sugar Shack."

Theme for the junior dance "Sugar Shack," held November 8, was taken from a record popular at the time. Decorations depicting a train and railroad track mentioned in the record's lyrics were used to carry out the theme. The dance had a large attendance, and juniors earned about $68 toward the prom.

David Brower, Bruce Mork and Carolyn Fishel concentrate on the Preliminary Scholarship Aptitude test given in October to juniors and seniors.

Officers Lead Sophomore Participation in Various

Sophomore Class leaders were Jeff Ramsey, president; Linda Parks, vice-president; Cindy Wang, secretary; Debbie Taylor, treasurer.

As sophomores began their second year, the student body realized we no longer had that "lost" look of last year. From the beginning of school we were active and a vital part of school life. Members showed excellent spirit as they cheered wildly at games and pep rallies, became active in clubs, voiced opinions to teachers and peers and worked hard at developing a friendly, but academic, spirit in school.

For the second consecutive year our class boasted the largest enrollment, 157 members. Most of us chose to study English, geometry, foreign languages and physical education. Geography, history and speech were also elected by our class members.

We were proud of our homecoming entry, "Recipe for Victory," which won third place. Doug Willingham, assisted by co-chairman Jan Garlinghouse, was head of the float committee. Kathy Soltow and Jim Westwood represented our class on homecoming court.

Ordering rings to be worn in our junior and senior years highlighted our sophomore year. We voted as a class on the style. Orders were taken in the fall from H. R. Terryberry Company. We were all delighted with them when they came.

Being definitely integrated into school life, feeling we had the right to express ourselves and contributing to school spirit gave us all a fulfilling year.

Sophomore Student Parliament members were Doug Rittenger, Ed Yunck and Linda Swenson.

Officers, S.P. Representatives Head Class of '67 in

The Freshman Class was led by Martha Lowry, president; Jack Nimpie, vice-president; Barb Dahnke, secretary; Darcie Lewis, treasurer.

Freshmen were represented in Student Parliament by Don Ambrose, Jay Breslin, Peggie Stevens and Zandra Zweering.

New surroundings, new opportunities, new subjects and new teachers greeted freshmen in their first year in high school. At first things were quite strange to us, but through class, club and social activities we soon became acquainted with school life.

Most freshmen were enrolled in sociology, English, physical education and foreign languages. Algebra I, music and home economics were other popular courses.

Peggie Stevens and Bill McGlone were our homecoming court representatives. We spent much time on our float, "Kill All Evil, Including the Holt-Weevil." Don Ambrose headed our float committee, which constructed the float in Connie Comstock's garage.

As the closing of our freshman year approached, we realized that we had successfully made the transition from junior to senior high. Okemos High was now part of us. We were enthusiastically rooting for our sports' teams, we were members of clubs, we were voicing our opinions at student meetings and we were appreciating the opportunities for study.

By the end of the year, the shy, unsure freshman had disappeared. We were now sophomores, eagerly awaiting the coming year for our school to start.

Sue,
I planned on writing you a two page book but since there wasn't much room left I guess

I can't. Don't even forget the blast we had at James party and most glad doesn't forget the wonderful times working at the hospital. Hope you work there as long as I do &¹²⁷ hope to see you there this summer. Have a rest and be health
Good. Call me on drive over this summer. I do so luck & see you next year.

Hi Sue

What's going to happen to you next year? Well that's a problem for everybody.
It's been a lot of fun this year in phys ed. Our class has gone through a lot. Have fun this summer.

Good luck (lowly junior) future

I found a place to write well here to a real talented writer. Have real cute and looks to me like you've got lots of friends in the future and have fun this summer.

Sue ya

Sue,
Well I think I'll be serious in telling you how I really feel about you. Well I'll agree we have had our fights and disagreements but we do both seem to come out alright.
Its been nice having you a part of our neighborhood, but I wish that you lived a little closer to me. We have had some fun together though.
Well be good and have a nice summer and I hope to see you. I hope we are always good friends especially in our next years to come.

Yes lots and lots of room and nothing to say — so you don't believe it huh? Then don't — you a great biologist and I'm sure you'll find go to the top of the hill —
Sounds like some thing
Benney would say? I Sure to hear while out — never me or you. It doesn't bother me though —
I'm going to be a phys. &
Ed major — maybe.
we could be coassitants
some time — won't worry that ever be cool! ! ! !
Take Care
Casey

Sue,

I'll always remember working at the hospital together! Especially Emily and Henry! Its been fun but kind of dumb too!

Its been a lot of fun getting to know you better in school too! Now, if we could just get rid of our problems!

I wish I could have been at your party to see your bathing suit. Someday we'll have to have one of our own.

*Have fun this summer
in Drivers Training and Good Luck with your job!*

Maybe I'll see you this summer (I hope) but if I don't, SEE you next year!

Susan Louise always remember me and my kind just yesterday that you and I rolled down the hill in fog. Remember those awful fights we used to have when Elaine and I changed up on you and then we'd change sides but we sure will have fun this summer.
And above all remember that you are a charming, loyal, precious, individual adorable, trustworthy, industrious, kind, devoted, and from one of your kind party that I visit forgot and every body surprised
I had lots of fun
last year but we loads of fun this

Sue
you are real
a great kid.
Good Luck in the future. I hope you have many happy years at O.H.S.

you have a good summer!
Good summer!
Best Wishes!
Amy Donald

Well pal, we're through another year. Now I can call you a Junior. (By-the-way, you can call me a junior too, I think!) If you hadn't been so gumiush when it came to cutting up fish livers and clam foots I wouldn't have been able to do all of it. I would have had to share the dirty work with you, and that would have absolutely broken my iddy biddy heart.

Don't drown, learning how to serve livers this summer! We'll have to get together some time, we could have lots of fun. Don't forget our trip across Ireland or wherever.

Good Luck Always,

Jeanie Biffen

Sue. It's been fun knowing you and don't forget the times we had. Good luck in the future and with the guys!

Susan,
Wont you miss those nice, easy biology tests? I hope we have more classes together next year. Have fun this summer and I'll see you next year. Cool downmann

Don't forget to do your chores in the house (and) see you later.

Sue, my everfaithful pen-pal and fellow actress (actor?), I wish you all the popsicles and peanut butter fudge you can eat this summer. I warn you, though, if you eat too much fudge your love for it will rapidly depart. September 12, your half-birthday, I will make you, with my own hands, a pan of peanut butter fudge. If you however, decide that you no longer like it, please me from like its ^{my} ~~my~~ contract.

See, ^{Edith} at your service, you are really a sweet kid. Maybe I can get to know you better next year. Please be good to the gurps and get a real good suntan this summer. See ya next year.

Dear Susan,
I've known you since - well it's been a long time - I want to wish all the world happiness in the world. Sincerely, Pety Sherrill '66

Sue, I've known you for a long time, but haven't seen much of you lately. You lately, much of real sweet st. girl. Good luck this summer - bye, Jen K.

Susan,
I hope you've had fun in Garry's Bag Shop, he's a real nut. I think you're a really nice girl & hope to have more classes with you next year.

Susan,
Good luck
next year
Jean

It's been a nice to have a class with you again Remember the fun you've had had in Chp. Ed. and feel I've spanned off this year a real good off this year with it's different teachers hasn't it? I hope to have you in my class next year!

W'e have had this class together this year so I can't say how exciting it is been with your class has class, but this year's been fun it's still your's
as fun. Good luck

at least you could save me a place to sign my name but instead we had room to do was write you a note. See you next year. Hope to see you next year.

Sue.
